TWO NEAR TRAGEDIES FROM HUNTERS' BULLETS

Apples As Royal Wedding Gift Not Favored In City

Citizens Agree Food Should Be Sent, But Say Apples "Coal To Newcastle"

There is little support in Vernon for the plan mooted in Kelowna last week of sending two carloads of apples from the Okanagan as part of gift food to the British people in place of a royal wedding present.

While in support of the idea of sending food, a number of Vernon citizens contacted on Wednesday thought that other foodstuffs would be more appropriate and useful than apples, of which the British people seem to have enough.

While he had heard nothing official on the campaign, Mayor David Howie stated that he had been thinking of the idea but could not see where it would do much good. He added, however, "That if the idea was universal throughout Canada, the City of Vernon should throw in with it." Mayor Howie said he could not see where a few carloads of apples would do much good, in fact it would be a "mere bagatelle." A shipload "would be different" and the Mayor was prepared to talk over the matter with other civic leaders.

"It is no good sending coals to Newcastle," was the opinion of C. M. Watson, a fruit grower of the Coldstream. Mr. Watson thought that there were a tremendous number of apples in Britain this year and it was a question if they would need any more. If any apples were to be sent at all, Mr. Watson thought that they should be sent later in the year.

"The question is, do they need them? If they do not, we should send them something else which would be of more benefit."

The opinions were supported by Dolph Browne, who said that Britain had one of the biggest crops of apples at the present time. Mr. Browne referred to a comment by Samuel Fraser, world authority on apples, at a recent meeting in which he told local growers England is on an export basis.

"There is no point in sending over something of which they have enough. They will not need any apples until February or March and only then because they do not have the cold storage facilities."

Mr. Browne was in support of the idea of sending food to the people of Britain but he favored the sending of other foodstuffs which would do far more good.

The Kelowna report says that while it is a recent conclusion that apples will be the main portion of the gift from the Okanagan Valley, an effort probably will be made to collect sufficient money to purchase non-perishable canned goods. The consensus of opinion in this city seems to favor the sending of purchasing goods other than apples.

All Time Record As No Property Let Go For Taxes

Indicating a high level of prosperity in Vernon and a keen interest in real estate is the fact that all delinquent taxes were paid by the deadline of September 30. Thus there was no piece of property to be put up for sale by the city because taxes had remained unpaid for the past two years. City Clerk J. W. Wright said this was the first year which he could recall in the history of the city when no land or building reverted to the city for arrears of taxes. Twenty persons brought their accounts up to date before the deadline.

Final day for payment of the current year's taxes was Tuesday. City Assessor, Ian Garven, was so busy with the last minute rush of citizens to avoid additional penalty charges for tardy payment that he was unable to give figures for total collections. However, it is expected that payments will surpass last year's record of approximately 98 percent.

"Final Word"

No Individual Apple Gifts By Box To Britain

Discussions "At Highest Level" Find Government adamantly Opposed to Plan

The British government is still adamantly opposed to private shipments of gift apples in standard containers from Canadians who wish to supplement their Old Country friends' diet with fresh fruits. B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. has been advised that after further discussions at the "highest level" in the government a decision not to alter previous stands has been reaffirmed. President A. K. Loyd, in making this announcement on Wednesday afternoon, said that this is considered the final word. The reason is so far advanced now that if permission were granted great difficulty would be encountered in making the necessary shipping arrangements.

This ban is in no way related to plans proposed to send carloads of apples to the Old Country as a "thank you" for the peace treaty. Such transactions, if developed, would be through ordinary commercial channels, Mr. Loyd said.

About the only avenue left for sending of gift apples—and it is a most unsatisfactory one—is in the 20-pound food packages. Just what would be the condition of apples shipped this way is not known, but it certainly would not be favorable.

The past week has been a quiet one for the fruit industry. The domestic apple market is slow following an excellent response to the opening flight of McIntosh.

Local Price Holds Below Other Valley Centres; No Increase Asked by Farmers

Up to this time, there has been no move made by milk producers in the Interior to request higher prices for their product. Fluid milk sold to the consumer in Vernon, Armstrong and Enderby is 15 cents per quart, compared with 16 cents at Victoria, Salmon Arm and Kelowna and 17 cents in Penticton and Oliver.

Delegation of dairy farmers from the Fraser Valley spent Monday afternoon explaining to Minister of Agriculture the Hon. Frank Putnam, why the price of milk in Vancouver should be raised at least two cents per quart.

Boal Gardom, spokesman for the farmers, claimed that increased cost and reduced production necessitated the advance in milk. The Minister of Agriculture declared that before anything was done, a public enquiry would be held. B. C. Milk Board, was present.

Man Sprayed With Buckshot; Rifle Shots Brush Housewife

When the "Yanks" Stood Pat

Surly Yugoslavia troops face American soldiers over a hastily erected barbed wire barricade at Outpost 38 after a surprise midnight move by 2,000 Yugoslavian soldiers 10 hours earlier than the agreement regarding occupation of Trieste, under the terms of the Italian peace treaty. The small group of 10 burly well-armed Americans, weren't the least fazed by the manoeuvre and calmly prepared for any trouble.

With reserves on both sides called up, and, with 12 British fighter-bombers flying "by coincidence" over the area about the same time, the Yugoslavs shelved the warlike scheme and said they would refer the matter to a diplomatic level. The U.S. troops were highly complimented for their "good sense and tact." Other American and British soldiers have since been arrested by Yugoslavs.

New Parking Lanes Illegal; 'Too Much of a Good Thing'

The new angle of parking on Barnard Avenue is strictly illegal, but motorists agree that it is a big improvement. In fact, some believe it is too much of a good thing. The only complaints about the new, bright yellow lines is that they allow too much room for a car, thus waste valuable parking space.

The new angle of 35 degrees is illegal because present bylaws stipulate parking shall be at 45 degrees to the curb. However, Alderman E. B. Cousins, chairman of the traffic committee, gave notice at the Monday night Council meeting that this would be amended. The lanes across intersections have given all pedestrians a new sense of safety, and some motorists a cheerful, almost belligerent disdain of motorists. Everyone generally feels "it's high time."

Pedestrians and motorists were quick to agree that the painted streets were not only a safety device but a great convenience. They found that wide space for parking decreased chances of rubbing fenders with adjacent cars and that streets were wider for traffic with cars sloped closer to the curb. Crossing lines "help to wake up the motorists" declared a pedestrian. Another walker realized her responsibilities and admitted the lines "serve to remind the people of the regulations against jay-walking." A member of the younger generation thought "they are a good idea—they give the city a big time flavor."

Must Enforce Traffic Bylaws Says Engineer

City Also Should Consider Now Parking Needs In 50 Years, Reports F. G. deWolf

"All restrictions placed on motor vehicles are of absolutely no use unless they are enforced," City Engineer F. G. deWolf told the City Council on Monday. He was reporting on the talk by Lorne Birch, traffic engineer, Vancouver, at last week's convention of municipal engineers.

"To make parking work, you must enforce the bylaws," continued Mr. deWolf.

It was not advisable to install parking meters in any city of less than 30,000 population, but cities were advised to plan on providing parking space now to care for needs to be met in the next 40 or 50 years' growth. A survey in Vancouver showed that persons coming to work in cars had to walk on an average of half a mile from where they parked their cars to the store or office in which they worked.

"And they kick if they have to walk half a block here," said Alderman D. D. Harris.

Meat To Burn: Bacon Well Smoked In Fire At City Locker Plant

There was meat to burn at the Vernon Meats and Locker Service Ltd. about 9:30 Wednesday morning, and the bacon was well smoked. A fire started in the smoking chamber of the plant was discovered by Gordon Hale, an employee of the firm, who heard a "crackling" as he walked by the chamber. An attempt was made to extinguish the blaze but the flames, and particularly the smoke, were too intense.

The Fire Department was called and the men wore gas masks as they stifled the fire. They also rid the building of smoke in an efficient manner described by W. Aleson. The firemen stretched a hose of canvas over the doorway between the smoking chamber and the main plant and then, taking the hoses with spray nozzle attachments, they directed a stream of water to the back door of the building. This set up a draught and the smoke was drawn out of the room. The 400 pounds of bacon were not damaged so extensively that they can not be used.

Taxpayers Want Sidewalks Street Lights, Less Dust

Petitions Presented to Council Will Bring Remedies As Soon As Possible

Petitions were the order of the night when the City Council went into session on Monday. Various residents wanted more street lights, less road dust, cement sidewalks and refund of taxes charged on a building that had been burned down most of the year. Only the latter was assured of immediate remedial action.

After a resident had frightened off a prowler in his Girouard Street home, citizens along this dark street south of Barnard Avenue went renewed efforts begun two years ago to get better street lighting in the neighborhood. Miss M. McEwan and E. Standing presented the Council with a petition bearing 22 signatures. It brought attention to the long street, "dark as a blackout" on which even light from a distant Barnard Avenue lamp was shut off by bushes.

"We haven't had any lights put up (in the city) for six or seven years," said Alderman Fred Harwood, explaining there was a shortage of material, "and that still holds good."

The problem was turned over to the B.C. Power Commission with a strong recommendation on the need of a light. In the meantime, the works department will remove the brush shutting off light from the nearest globe on Barnard Avenue.

Since Connaught Avenue was graded two or three weeks ago dust taxpayers

Rotarians Host To International Area Governor

Herbert Clark, of Trail, District Governor, Feted On Visit to Vernon Club

Rotary Club projects in Vernon for the coming year will come under close scrutiny today, Thursday, while Herbert Clark, of Trail, District Governor, is visiting the local group. An assembly meeting was held under president Lou Maddin on Monday when the budget and program was drawn up for 1947-48.

Rotary Park, just east of the sports oval, is one of the major projects, and will receive a large part of funds to be spent. Lawns, landscaping and sports facilities, especially for young people, are in the plans. Several other local worthy causes will be supported as in past years.

Mrs. Clark, wife of the District Governor, will be guest of honor at a tea, held by the Rotary Annex at Orchardleigh Lodge this afternoon, Thursday, at four o'clock.

Chinatown Is Engineer's Puzzle

A Chinese puzzle of no mean proportion will be tackled by the city engineer's department as it undertakes to follow City Council instructions and re-survey Centre-ville, that oldest part of Vernon which "just grew" with more kinks than in fabled Topeka's mop. A barber shop stands several feet out in the street where a lane should be. A lean-to shed projects nine and a half feet onto a neighbor's lot. A garden, a chicken house and a telephone pole obstruct what once was a lane. Builders

Local Hunter Gets Pellets In Flesh; .25 Calibre Slugs Crash Into Kitchen

The hunting season has meant a brush with death for two people in the Vernon area. Williams Simmons, of this city, was struck by buckshot from the gun of an unknown hunter firing from the other side of a slough on the Indian Reserve about 10 miles north west of Vernon. He had five pellets removed from his flesh but was not seriously hurt. Two .25 calibre rifle bullets ripped through the kitchen about a foot from where Mrs. S. Harrison was working in her home 12 miles past Lumby on the Sugar Lake road.

Nimrods Out Early To Get First Shot Of the Duck Season

Less Time to Bag Limit This Year; Flights "Fair To Middling" Say Hunters

The shrill jangle of alarm clocks pierced the calm in many homes at an earlier hour than usual yesterday morning, Wednesday. Ardent nimrods, who for weeks have been cleaning and oiling their pet shotguns, fumbled out of bed and hid themselves away to their favorite grain field, lake or slough, to start the season's offensive against the ducks.

A number of the hunters who went out on Wednesday morning reported quite a few ducks being slain. Many thought that the duck population was much bigger than at this time last year. Mallards, the favorite of most shooters, were reported in fairly large numbers, while the other species were also quite plentiful.

Hunters are advised to note the changes in the regulations. The season has been shortened one month to November 14; shooting hours are from sunrise to one hour after sunset; the daily bag limit has been reduced to seven, while the season limit has been posted at 100.

Floor Sports

The change in hunting hours seems to have caused quite a bit of trouble for some of the scattergunners. The official time at which shooting may start is sunrise which is at 6 a.m. One group of hunters was sitting alongside their favorite slough about 5 a.m., waiting for the legal hour to open fire. The ducks were coming in and the prospects looked good. However, nearly an hour before the official opening time, some hunters on neighboring lakes and sloughs commenced to fire and most of the good shooting was lost to the party which had waited so patiently and sportingly for 6 a.m.

Today, Thursday, the quackers will probably be the targets of a heavy barrage as this is an all day sloughing for the majority of hunters. Over the weekend, the remainder of the hunting enthusiasts will get their chance for the first ducks of the new season.

When her husband came home he found that the bullets had ripped through the screen door, passed across the kitchen, bored through the wall and across a store room to the opposite wall. One buried itself there and the other fell to the floor. Holes in the kitchen wall were only six inches apart. By sighting along a string stretched across the wall to those in the screen door, he deduced that the shots had been fired from a nearby meadow on his farm.

J. R. Lidstone, a neighbor, in describing the occurrence to The Vernon News reporter, expressed serious concern about the carelessness and thoughtlessness of hunters. In previous years he had welcomed and assisted hunters, he said, although he had lost an average of one milk cow a year from bullets during the hunting season.

Council, Board of Trade Seek Basis for Increase In City Business Licenses

Revision Suggested Three Months Ago; City and Business Men Work on Scheme

For three months the City Council has had in mind revision of trades license fees charged businesses in the city, but so far there has been no action toward an expected increase in rates.

Vernon's license fees were last revised about 10 years ago. J. W. Wright, city clerk, recalled that it occasioned much discussion and disagreement. Most merchants now are agreed that licenses will go up again, but just how far and on what basis has not been suggested by them or by the City Council.

Shortly after Council investigation proved Vernon's rates lowest of the larger Interior cities, the business tax was mooted in some quarters and the Council waited to see what action would be taken at the convention of B.C. municipalities. When this idea of taxing businesses on their turnover was turned down, the city asked the Business Men's Bureau to assist in determining a new level of license fees. The Bureau was unable to suggest a scheme for revision and referred the problem to its parent body, the Board of Trade. The Board of Trade has now agreed to appoint a committee to discuss the matter with the Council.

Low Licenses

The basis of license fees is the Municipal Act, which sets maximum rates for various lines of business. Vernon charges the limit in only six cases out of 27: on pedlars, solicitors, crochets, room shows, theatres.

The average fee is $13.17 below that of Penticton, next lowest of Vernon's licensees is $39.73, compared to Penticton, $52.80; Kelowna, $60.01; Kamloops, $60.75; and Nelson, $65.45. All are well below the average of the maximums allowable, $60.72.

A major difficulty of the Business Men's Bureau in suggesting agreeable revision was that the group was not fully representative of all classes of business in the city. When the Board of Trade consulted the Council another difficulty will be the fact that the Municipal Act does not state maximums as guides in setting license fees for several types of business, including barbers, wholesalers, manufacturers, printers, publishers, cafes, real estate and insurance offices. The Act was passed in 1912.

First Prize for Printing

In awards made at the recent convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Victoria, The Vernon News received a cup for the "first place" in national competition of commercial printing.

First Student Pilot Solos At Vernon Airport: Age 16

The distinction of being the first student at the Vernon airport to solo went to 10 year old Richard "Dick" Williams at the local field on Sunday. Making two circuits alone at the controls of the Cessna 140, Dick described his "graduation" from lessons commenced on August 17, "quite a sensation going up in an airplane by yourself." He had had 9 1/2 hours dual flight.

The youthful pilot went down to the field about 10 a.m. and made a flight of one half hour with his instructor, Manville Pepper, pilot of Valley Air Service Ltd. "I was not doing so hot at first, but I made another flight and that was better," Dick then went up with Pilot Peter Dyck for one circuit and as the instructor's words were quite satisfied the fledgling was ready, he next went up alone.

He made one circuit successfully, landed and then went up again. "I felt quite pleased with myself," he spoke of his instructor, Mr. Pepper, as deserving "an awful lot of credit" for the success of his solo.

Dick came to Vernon in 1937. He first got the "flying bug" when he started building model planes six years ago. He is a member of the Vernon Model Builders Club.

Turning 17 in October, Dick intends to continue flying and to see what develops in aviation as a future.

There are 14 students taking flying lessons at the Vernon field under instructors Peter Dyck and Manville Pepper, of Valley Air Service Ltd.

Biggest Moose of Season Killed by Armstrong Man

The biggest moose to be shot in the Cariboo district so far this season was the trophy of Irving Toombs, of Armstrong, in a hunting trip to the Prince George area last week. The Game Warden at the Cache Creek station told Mr. Toombs that the moose, which had a spread of over 50 inches, was the finest bagged so far.

The Armstrong man, who is a nephew of Albert Toombs, of this city, also bagged a timber wolf, which is a rather rare kill in the Cariboo area. A bounty of $25 was paid to the hunter for the wolf by the Game Department at Prince George and they expressed the desire that more hunters would shoot the predators as they are a real menace in that district.

Mr. Toombs was accompanied on his hunting trip by Wilfred Erickson, who has been a trapper in the Summit Lake district for many years. It was Tuesday afternoon when the men first started to hunt. They had gone about two miles from the road to a place where Mr. Erickson had shot a bear a week or so earlier. He showed the Armstrong man where two moose had locked horns in a struggle and died.

Experience Counts

The hunters were on their way back to camp when they heard two timber wolves howling. Mr. Toombs was told to "stand still, one will come this way, so get ready for him." They listened and could hear the brush of the wolf's foot on the leaves. They had their rifles cocked and as they saw him coming through the un-

Frank Becker

Frank F. Becker, of this city, is the first man from the Okanagan Valley to have been elected to the presidency of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association. A well known hockey personality throughout the province and Western Canada, Mr. Becker was elected to the position at the annual meeting held in Nanaimo on Saturday and Sunday.

Frank Becker New President of B.C.A.H.A.

For the first time in the history of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association, a representative of the Okanagan Valley has been elected to the presidency of the organization. At the annual meeting of the provincial body at Nanaimo on Saturday and Sunday, Frank F. Becker, of Vernon, was selected for the position.

Since first coming to this city in April 1940, Mr. Becker has had much to do with the winter sport. He sponsored a midget team in the city and was very active in the promotion of minor hockey. He has been vice-president of the B.C.A.H.A. for two years and has been the representative of the C.A.H.A. in the Western Canada intermediate finals held in this city. He came to Vernon from Nelson where he was not connected with the sport.

Gerry Thompson, of Trail, well known coach of the Trail Junior Smokies, was elected vice-president. Dr. L. Giovando, Nanaimo, is second vice-president, while Leo Atwell, of Nelson, is the secretary-treasurer. Last year's executive was re-elected. It comprised Art Jefford, Vancouver; A. S. "Pat" Aitken, Trail; J. E. Ryan, Nanaimo; J. W. Livingstone, Kimberley; E. H. "Red" Martin, Kamloops, and A. R. Giles, Prince George.

Mr. Becker succeeds D. G. "Duog" Grimston, of New Westminster, who resigned. He held the post of president for the past five years. At the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. in Quebec last May, Mr. Grimston was elected second vice-president of that body, the first time that a man from British Columbia has received that honor.

At the meeting in Nanaimo, the provincial delegates dealt with the matters concerning travelling expenses for playoff squads, the suspension of two players, and the setting of the play-off series. Andy Rabichuk, who was involved in a discrepancy over a birth certificate in the junior finals here last year, was given a two-year suspension by the organization.

Travelling expenses of all minor clubs, junior down to midget, have been cut by 20 percent over that of last year. However, there was better news for the intermediate clubs. Playoff grants have been boosted from $55 to $90 per day with the larger amount to apply when the teams are in hotels.

A more complete report of the annual meeting will be given upon Mr. Becker's return from the coast.

This Week's Sports

Boxla Victory Fires Burn Again for Junior Triumph

For the second time within the space of a few weeks, victory fires burned brightly in the local lacrosse camp on Monday night. The Vernon Juniors, taking their cue from the senior Tigers, wrapped up their triumph in a neat little bundle and pasted a 16-8 decision on them in the final game of a best of three series.

Receiving the trophy for the Valley Junior championship, captain Ab Mills summed up the series by saying, "It wasn't easy, but the best team won." Kelowna took the first game on their home floor but in two games at the arena, the locals scuttled the Kelowna hopes.

Once again, Mills and Dick McCuskey flashed the juniors to their triumph. Mills was easily the standout performer of the night on the attack, continuing his high scoring pace with five goals and three assists. McCuskey made his presence felt in more than one way with a quartet of tallies and a single relay.

Fist Flare-ups
As if the usual action in a boxla game was not exciting enough for the good crowd of fans, there were a couple of fights that nearly got out of the skirmishing stage. Checking had been fairly rough throughout the play and in the middle of the third quarter, the first flare-up broke loose.

Bob Monahan was strenuously checked by Hardy, of Kelowna, and the two tangled in a brief slug-fest that might have had possibilities if the two referees had not broken up the party so quickly. Both players were banished for five minutes.

In the next period, Len Wolgram and Ernie Ramponi squared off in a rally that saw a few good punches thrown but no damage was done. Ramponi set the Quakers rules back on their haunches by sportingly hitting Wolgram when the Vernon player was being held by the referee.

Penalties were handed out in reckless abandon during the 60 minutes of action and at times the arena floor was almost deserted as the majority of players rested their aching bones in the penalty box.

There was much intense excitement for the fans, however, and the local boys were really rolling to victory. Kelowna outshot the Vernon club but Ervin Freund in the local cage was in great form to nullify any seemingly impossible saves time and again.

He stopped a total of 36 shots during the game and was very good in the third quarter when Kelowna rained an even dozen shots on his citadel and he blanketed every drive. Catchpole in the Kelowna net saved 23 shots and on the others he did not have a chance.

The score represents the play fairly accurately as the locals had an 8-4 score at half time and kept up the double count the rest of the way. Vernon tallied five goals in the first and final frames and in the intermediate sessions notched three in each. The visitors scored twice in the first and second, were blanked in the third and squeezed four in the last lap.

The Stars
Stan Mills, Gordy Henschke and Stan Grisdale contributed to the local scoring honors. Stan, the younger of the Mills duet, played a very steady game and racked up two goals and three very smart assists. Henschke proved his high value as a playmaker with the highest total of assists for the night, four. Grisdale, as well as checking strongly, had a pair of goals and a single relay.

The two goals scored by H. Cummings led the Kelowna attack while the visitors were almost nil. On their eight goals the losers

So near and yet so far. That might well represent the situation which faced Archie Leek at Del Mar Bowling Alleys on Monday night when he came within one spare of $100. Archie rolled the highest official score at the alleys so far when he trundled a one game total of 410.

He rolled three straight strikes, a spare, and then finished out the other frames with strikes. The management of the alleys offers $100 for a perfect game.

Archie also rolled a creditable three game score of 1,012.

Vernon Lawn Bowlers End Highly Successful Season

On Thursday of last week, closing ceremonies of one of the most successful seasons ever held took place at the Vernon Lawn Bowling Club greens. Supplementing the good turnout of local bowlers was the contingent of visitors from neighboring clubs. Play was held in the afternoon and evening.

The silver spoons prize for the matinee competition was won by the rink skipped by Mrs. P. Hurlburt, with Mrs. Len Hey, lead, and Phil Daem, third. Eight rinks took part under perfect weather conditions with "old Sol" really outshining himself to give a real send-off for the 1947 season.

About the same number of bowlers took part in the evening games, with the winners being Mr. LaBros, skip; Mrs. W. Oliver, third; Mrs. P. Daem, second, and E. W. Bailey, lead. The second prize winners for the evening were Mrs. P. Hurlburt, skip; Mr. Swan, third; Mrs. Saunders, second, and Sandy Rasmussen, lead.

The games were followed by refreshments after which the club president, Phil Welch, thanked the visitors for their attendance and said he hoped that they had enjoyed the play. He extended an invitation for them to attend next year. Jack Briard gave further information regarding the play for the Brewer Cup in games held at Armstrong and Salmon Arm.

C. B. Lefroy then extended a vote of thanks to the women of the club for the grand way they had handled the catering this season for the various tournaments. The games were followed by refreshments after which the club president, Phil Welch, thanked the visitors for their attendance and said he hoped that they had enjoyed the play. He extended an invitation for them to attend next year. Jack Briard gave further information regarding the play for the Brewer Cup in games held at Armstrong and Salmon Arm.

"Meanest Thief" In Salmon Arm Robbery

SALMON ARM.—Somewhere in Salmon Arm there is a candidate for the dubious distinction of the "meanest thief."

Recently, this miscreant visited the children's playground on Salmon Arm Central School grounds and removed a kiddie's letter-box. The device was included in the playground by the Kinsmen Club of Salmon Arm, and it was very popular among the smaller youngsters.

A quantity of galvanized pipe had been used by the Kinsmen in the installation of the equipment and because of the acute shortage of that product at the present time, there is a suggestion that someone requiring pipe was responsible for the theft.

The disappearance of the equipment was reported to the provincial police who are investigating. In the meantime there are many disappointed kiddies who formerly spent many happy hours on the teeter.

Presanitation to Foreman

At Salmon Arm on Friday evening, George Brothel was presented with a copy of Hummick's book, "The Butcher Industry," awarded for success in examinations in butchering. He received a mark of 78 in written examinations and 95 in oral. He has been promoted to the position of foreman in charge of the Salmon Arm Creamery plant. Mr. Brothel started intensive study of butchering about one year ago, but has been employed by the Co-op Creamery Association for four years.

Penticton Moves On Incorporation

PENTICTON — Application has been made to the governor-in-council for the incorporation of the municipality as the City of Penticton, following a resolution adopted at Monday night's Council meeting.

The Council has taken this move without any preliminaries in the way of separation of the urban and rural districts. If the application is approved, the method to be followed will be established by the provincial government.

At the present time, there is a ruling that no district having an area in excess of 2,000 acres may incorporate as a city. Penticton has 7,000 acres, but in this making application, the way is open for whatever government ruling is made.

It is pointed out that incorporation would be possible if the legislature were to pass a private bill.

Avoid Court, Army Tinge In Doukhobor Investigation

PENTICTON — "Our job is to find the cause of all this trouble and then to recommend remedial measures," stated Judge H. Sullivan, head of the new B.C. Doukhobor Inquiry Commission, in Penticton recently. Judge Sullivan was in Penticton to confer with H. W. McInnes, Penticton lawyer, named as counsel for the commission, said that he had already been studying the case.

"We want all the evidence it is possible to get," he said, "and from all quarters. This is a civil enquiry and we of this commission have no intention of prosecuting these people during our hearings."

For that reason as far as possible these hearings will be held apart from court houses, and the commission will use private cars rather than police transportation. The present criminal actions have nothing to do with the commission, Judge Sullivan stated. In his effort to have the enquiry on a civil rather than jurisdiction or police basis, the judge is having his appointment made as to plain "Mr. Sullivan" in order that no implication of either the bench or military discipline shall occur. Similarly with all other appointments.

One such instance is the naming of Major Victor E. Weldie as secretary. This appointment will be to "Mr. Weldie," and the last-war military title dropped for the purposes of the commission.

"We want to give these people every chance," stated the judge. "I intend to encourage these people from all factions to attend our hearings. And where asked, I will hold sittings in their own communities, in their own halls."

"After all, this thing has been going on for 50 years, and something must be done. To find out what should be done, we are going in with wide-open minds."

Dates of the actual hearings have not yet been set, but will be determined later, upon recommendation of all parties to the problem. Judge Sullivan left for Vancouver later on Friday to make final arrangements for the commission. The hearings will most likely centre on Nelson and possibly Cranbrook, depending upon later findings. For the time being, the commission will operate out of Nelson.

W. H. McInnes, counsel for the group, left for Nelson on Saturday. He had been preceded there by Major Weldie.

Mrs. O'Leary's Cow Is 66 Year Old Fire Lesson

It was 66 years ago this month that Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern in the barn and caused the greatest pest-time fire disaster in the world—the great Chicago fire. This next week, October 5 to 11, is being observed internationally as Fire Prevention Week.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of safety," said Fire Chief Fred S. Little in an interview on Tuesday. "This is especially true at this time of year. Fire Chief Little reminded citizens that they should check on the condition and cleanliness of their furnace pipes and stove pipes. 'It is surprising during the summer how often things get stacked around the furnaces, stoves and even on pipes. Then later on, a fire is started in the furnace or stove and the fire department has to be called.'"

Fire Chief Little listed a number of causes for fires. The greatest single cause is careless smoking. Another is the depositing of ashes in inflammable containers. Many people unintentionally leave hot ashes in wood or cardboard boxes, intending to return immediately to dump them, but they are forgotten and the result is that the fire crew is called.

Gasoline Danger

The use of gasoline for cleaning purposes is another very serious cause of fire. A lot of householders do not realize that gasoline does not need a match or fire nearby to touch it off. The mere process of rubbing clothes together causes enough static electricity to set off the gas fumes. The action of pouring gas from one container to another is also a danger.

In the city of Vernon so far this year there have been 48 fires with loss around $3,500. "This loss is agreeably small, but unless the people do use extreme care, it could grow beyond all proportion overnight," the fire chief stated.

This slight monetary loss is tragically overshadowed by the fact that two small children in the city perished in a fire on Wednesday, February 15. In the last ten years, in Canada, 3,414 people have lost their lives through fire. Of these, 1,400 were helpless children.

Some of the actual causes of these fires this year are such as inflammable material being kept too close to overheated stove pipes. There were four cases of fire caused in this manner and they involved the greatest amount of loss. Children playing with matches, sparks falling on a shingle roof, and two cases of people smoking in bed contributed to this total of 48 fires.

A great number of calls received by the local fire department are for chimney fires. These are due mainly to the people not having the chimneys cleaned often enough. By observing these points and taking precautions against their occurrence, nearly all fires in the home can be prevented. It is a reminder to every citizen, man, woman or child, that Fire Prevention Week is held annually, and the methods of prevention should be remembered every day throughout the year.

Kelowna Gets Pipe For Civic Projects

KELLOWNA—Although labor is still very scarce due to the number of additional men required to harvest the 1947 fruit crop, materials for the city's public works projects are starting to trickle through, and work on the extension of the sewer and waterworks services will get underway within the next few days. H. Blakemore, city engineer, stated this morning.

Mr. Blakemore said a carload of pipe for 50 wartime houses now being constructed, arrived over the weekend, while five cars of cast iron water pipe for other civic projects have already left Toronto. At one time, officials thought there would be a delay in turning the wartime houses over to the Central Mortgage Corporation, due to the shortage of pipe, but this has now been overcome.

Money for the extension of city sewers and the water mains was obtained under the two bylaws which were passed by ratepayers several months ago.

Enderby Adults Join Children For Rally Day

ENDERBY, Sept. 30—A large congregation of parents and Sunday School pupils gathered in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday morning to take part in the Rally Day service. Rev. C. G. MacKenzie conducted the service, assisted by the Sunday School secretary, Miss Lois Bennett, who read the Scripture. The service followed the usual program which is outlined for churches all through the Dominion for Rally Day. The members of the choir were in attendance and rendered special music.

The offering from the morning service goes towards Christian education. The special project being to build a new boat to be used in Coast missions' work on the coast of British Columbia. Already there are three such boats plying up and down the coast visiting places that are unable to have Sunday School and church training.

These boats with their pastor battle all kinds of weather to make the regular visits. It is hoped that the funds necessary for such a project will be easily raised, and a new boat added to the fleet.

An envelope with the picture of such a launch was distributed to all those attending the service to be used for the collection. In order to carry out this plan of "real projects" the Rev. MacKenzie has adopted an idea in his work with the Boys' Club. He has made a beautiful fishing rod, the material having been taken from the nearby woods, and is using it as an example for his class of boys who will make similar works of art during their winter training.

Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Robertson returned recently from Wenatchee, Wash., where they attended a conference of representatives of the Southern Baptists, together with representatives of members of the Regular Baptists of British Columbia. During their absence, Mrs. Mills, mother of Mrs. Robertson, remained at their home in Enderby to take care of their young son, Russell. Mrs. Mills left by train for her home in Calgary following her visit.

On Wednesday afternoon, the members of the local Baptist W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. F. Dingman to hold their regular meeting. Arrangements were discussed at the meeting in connection with starting a children's Junior Mission Band and choir. It is hoped that this new church undertaking will receive a good deal of support and that it will prove most helpful for the younger members of the church as well as their parents. In charge of the work will be Rev. Robertson, Mrs. N. Johnson and Mrs. B. E. Wilson.

The Croustons brothers, who reside a mile south of town on the Enderby-Vernon Road, have been enjoying a visit this week from Mr. and Mrs. Carens.

There was a large number of the congregation present at the evening service in the local Baptist Church on Sunday. During the service, Gust Johnson took the right hand of fellowship as a member of the congregation. Mr. Johnson leaves this week for Three Hills, Alberta, where he will attend the Alberta Bible School. Miss Carreinne Kope, a member of the church choir sang a solo at the evening service.

Mrs. E. Webb returned to her home in Enderby this week after spending a few days in Kamloops where she was a delegate from the local St. Anne's church.

By CLAIRE WALLACE

In their own homes, women are usually good housekeepers, proud of sparkling mirrors, immaculate bathrooms, clean walls and general appearance of tidiness. They take pride in keeping the house that way, looking on each shining surface as a badge of merit.

But, sad to say, they don't treat other people's property with the same tender care. Take the public washroom as an example. We women are getting ourselves a bad name for being untidy, careless, inconsiderate and downright destructive in washrooms. Attendants say women are much more untidy than men. If this is the case, we had better buckle down and look the situation squarely in the eye to see how we can mend our ways.

Here's the wrong side of the picture. "Gracious, I'm a mess," a would-be glamour girl says after one peek in her mirror. She heads for the nearest washroom and ten minutes later emerges looking as if she had stepped out of a bandbox. Behind her she has left a grimy washbowl, sometimes with the water faucet still turned on, powder-flecked mirror and floors, paper towels littering the place, and, most disgraceful of all, hair combs in the washbasin and lipstick smeared on mirrors or painted walls. She may look pretty but the washroom doesn't!

Here's the right way. See that taps are turned off when you've washed and be sure to rinse the basin out with a little water, leaving it clean and fresh for the next person. If you've left a ring around it, take a paper towel and wipe it off. It's your ring of dirt and nobody else wants to clean it up. Comb your hair before the dressing table, not over the washbasin.

K.P. Amateur Shows Enjoyed In Enderby

ENDERBY, Sept. 29—On Friday evening some 300 people gathered in the Knights of Pythias Hall to enjoy the amateur show which was sponsored by the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Past programs have been a great success and it was decided to continue this form of entertainment throughout the winter months.

R. Hill was assisted by the K. of P. entertainment committee in putting on the show.

The singing of "O Canada" was followed by a solo, "Sgt. Major," by E. Stevenson, accompanied by the K. of P. band.

This was followed by a bagpipe number which was much appreciated by local Scotsmen.

June Bradford played a piano solo and Lorraine Parkin sang "The Anniversary Song" accompanied by Miss Viola Brash.

Ray Ramsay, Pro Rec instructor, gave a juggling demonstration. Lorraine McAmmond and Yvonne Pritchard sang a duet, "You Won't Be Satisfied Until You Break My Heart," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. McAmmond.

Bruce Bolton gave a guitar solo, "The Little Log Shack." Jack Bush did a comic number, and Miss Ina Nelson sang a solo entitled "Cold Mine in the Sky," accompanied on the piano by Miss June Bradford.

Miss Stevens danced an Irish jig accompanied by the bagpipes. Tina Skelly gave an acrobatic demonstration. Shirley McAmmond and Marion Pritchard sang a duet, "Little Malone," with Mrs. McAmmond accompanying on the piano.

This was followed by a quiz program. The following won prizes: Mrs. D. Lewis, one dollar; Joe Kral, a jackpot; A. Bush, a jackpot; David Blidlok and J. Westward, Muriel Tucey, D. It shouldn't be hard for us to practise washroom manners when washrooms are installed as a convenience for us, the public. A way of saying "Thank you" for the service is to leave one as clean and tidy as when you entered it.

Questions — Etiquette — Answers

Crackers: "Antoinette P." Montreal. Que, writes: "In our family we argue about the politeness of breaking crackers into soup. Some of us do it and the others don't approve. Will you set us straight?"

Answer: Lots of people like to break crackers into the soup and this is going to be bad news to them—it isn't done. A cracker is meant to be broken in the fingers, but never dropped into the soup or bouillon. Because so many people grieve over this rule of etiquette, some cracker companies bring out croutons, a little square biscuit that is made especially to be dropped into the soup, and quite often these are served in hotels or restaurants. At home, you can put tiny cubes of toast into soup. Drop about a tablespoon of them in the bowl or dish of soup, just before serving.

Readers are invited to address etiquette problems to Claire Wallace. Write Claire Wallace, care of The Vernon News. Replies will appear in this column.

Penticton May Install Stop and Go Signal

PENTICTON—Need of a traffic light at Main Street and Nanaimo has again been brought to the attention of the Council by the Penticton Board of Trade.

In discussing several recommendations of the board embodied in a letter from Secretary H. B. Morley, Council covered the whole question of traffic signs and regulations within the municipality.

It was decided to ascertain the costs of "Stop-Go" signs and to seek the experience of Vancouver and New Westminster with such signs.

Inasmuch as a new speed limit bylaw is now in course of preparation, it was decided to investigate the whole question of traffic signs before final action is taken.

Back in Valley After 24 Years

J. A. Llewellyn Beasley, well known figure in the Oyma and Vernon districts 25 years ago, is back from England visiting relatives and surprising former friends as he recognizes them on the city streets after over two decades' absence.

He left the district in May 1923, because "I was worn out working on the farm." He operated a 40-acre dairy farm near Winfield, now run by his son, Alex, and he still owns 200 acres of range land on Woods Lake.

Apparently England has been kind to Mr. Beasley, for he is the type who must carry a birth certificate to prove he is actually 80 years of age. Asked by Col. R. Fitzmaurice, an old friend, what was his elixir of life, the active gentleman replied, "Work, work, work."

Although living in retirement, he is known in Paulton, Devon, as the leader of a resistance movement fighting increasing tax assessments due to public building projects. He refused offers to back him for mayor.

Journalist
A correspondent for The Vernon News in the days of J. A. McKelvie, Mr. Beasley writes for the Paulton Observer and he "created quite a sensation" with publicity of the Ogoopo which, he explained to his readers, was the Okanagan version of the Loch Ness monster.

While in the Valley, Mr. Beasley is visiting his wife, his son Alex, and daughter, Miss Connie Beasley, of Winfield, and another daughter, Mrs. Barbara Pearson, of Kelowna. He plans to travel to Oakland, Calif., via Vancouver, to visit his son, Douglas.

Individuals in England do not recognize the impression gained in Canada of Britain's national economic crisis, said Mr. Beasley.

"We have tightened our belts for nine years and we feel this is just another pinch."

The industrial worker "rules the roost," he continued, "and the government is playing into his hands by giving him higher wages. He doesn't feel the pinch."

Drinking in Public Place; Fined $50
The minimum fine of $50 was the sentence to Daniel Shumay who pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place. The case was heard in City Police Court on Wednesday morning by Magistrate William Morley.

The offence took place on Elm Street on Sunday, September 21. Mr. Shumay was given three weeks in which to pay the fine.

Argentina's two oldest cities, San Juan and Mendoza, were founded in 1561-62 by colonists from Chile.

Watch for My Little Girl

A compelling argument for safe driving and safe thinking is contained by the following letter widely publicized across Phil Branniff appeared in the Tulsa "World" to motorists on behalf of his daughter.

Dear Driver:

Today my daughter, who is seven years old, started off to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is "Scott," sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her—the girl with the yellow curls—and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher who has eyes in the back of her head—and about the trees in the school yard—and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital unimportant things; then we studied spelling, reading and arithmetic—and then to bed.

She's back there now—back in the nursery—sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's a doll) cuddled in her right arm. You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken, or her finger is cut, or her head gets bumped, I can fix it—but when she starts across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and bike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time—I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So—please—drive slowly past the schools and intersections—and remember that children run from behind parked cars. Please don't run over my little girl.

Armstrong Red Cross Mourns Active Worker

ARMSTRONG, Oct. 1.—At two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, October 1, a large group of neighbors and friends attended the funeral service of the late Margaret Anne Pyott, which was conducted by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, of Enderby, in Zion United Church.

Among those attending were members of the local Red Cross Society who were present in a body. Both Miss Pyott and her mother, who is nearing the age of four score and ten, have been very active workers in that organization. Not only by the Red Cross, but also by those in the district in which she has been a good friend and neighbor will Miss Pyott be greatly missed. Her willingness to help and her cheery disposition was a frequent cause of comment.

Miss Pyott was born in Forfarshire, Scotland, over 65 years ago. In the land of her birth she received her education, and in 1914 came with her parents to Saskatchewan.

In 1929 she accompanied her parents to this city. They purchased property in the Highland Park district which is still the Pyott home. It was after a short illness that the deceased passed away in the Armstrong Hospital on Sunday, September 28.

Besides her mother, Miss Pyott is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Crerar, Scotland; Mrs. J. W. Hayhurst, Vernon, and Mrs. J. Birnie, Manitoba (who at present is residing with her mother); three brothers, Robert, Roblin, Manitoba; William, Okla., Sask.; and Charles, Victoria. Interment was in the Armstrong Cemetery.

Sheepmen Warned To Keep Good Ewe Lambs

Now that lambs are going to market and prices are good, the tendency with too many sheep breeders is to sell all lambs regardless of sex as soon as they reach market weight and finish, says E. B. Williams, Animal Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. If this is done, the replacement ewe lambs must be chosen from what is left of the lamb crop. Since one of the principal reasons that these lambs are late and underdeveloped is that their mother lacked sufficient milk to feed them properly, such a policy will result in a steady decline in the flock.

Throughout the season ewe lambs that are well developed and of a strong constitution should be set aside as future flock members. To be suitable for this purpose, a ewe lamb should be thick, deep and of good mutton conformation and should have a heavy, dense fleece typical of the breed. Lambs with defects such as parrot jaw, are fit only for the killing block. Where a high percentage of twins is desired, it is wise to select lambs that were born as twins.

Armstrong Woman Is Buried in Alberta

ARMSTRONG, Oct. 1.—Following a funeral service in the United Church at Cochrane, Alta., conducted by Rev. C. W. MacKay at two o'clock on Monday afternoon, September 29, old family friends carried the late Mrs. Hettie Anderson to her last resting place in the family plot in the Cochrane Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, residents of the Armstrong district for nearly thirty years, had been visiting at the home of their son in Kamloops and were driving home on Wednesday afternoon, September 24, when they met with a car accident 23 miles east of that city. Mrs. Anderson succumbed and Mr. Anderson is still a patient in the Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops.

Mrs. Anderson, formerly Miss Hettie Heuvel, was born at Uithuizermeeden, Province of Groningen, Holland, and came to Fulton, Illinois, about 50 years ago. On May 7, 1900, in Montana, Miss Heuvel married John Anderson and in 1904, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson drove in a covered wagon to Alberta where they pioneered in the Cochrane district.

In 1918, they, with their family, came to Armstrong and have found their way into the hearts of many who will miss Mrs. Anderson's cheery word and kind hospitality. Her family and her home was her first concern.

Surviving, besides her husband are two daughters, Miss May Anderson, of Chilliwack; and Mrs. E. R. Williamson (Marguerite), of Vernon; one son, Alfred, in Kamloops; two granddaughters, one in Vernon and one in Kamloops. Four sisters and one brother reside in Holland. One son, Walter, predeceased his mother in 1907 and was buried in the family plot in Cochrane.

Miss Anderson, Mrs. Williamson and Alfred Anderson accompanied their mother's remains to Cochrane.

Canadians Rush To Telephones Often

Few people use their telephones more than Canadians, and only three of the principal countries in the world exceed the Dominion in telephone installations. Recent unofficial estimates place the number of telephones in Canada well over the 2,000,000 mark or 15 telephones to every 100 persons, with only the United States, Sweden and New Zealand holding a higher proportion.

Statisticians have had a difficult time gathering information on a world-wide basis because of the disruptions caused by the war. But, for Canada, the latest official figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, show an actual count of 1,848,794 telephones at the end of 1945. Since that date, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada alone, largest of the nation's 3,151 telephone systems, has added 175,000 telephones in its territory in Quebec and Ontario.

Enderby's $85,000 Water Works System Under Way

ENDERBY, Oct. 1.—Construction of the new $85,000 waterworks system is well under way this week. At the end of the week, the large machinery being used to dig the trench necessary to lay the metal pipe, began its operations on Cliff Street.

A four-foot deep trench is being dug, and along all but Cliff Street the pipe is being welded and lowered into the trench. On Cliff Street, however, this was not possible, and much of the welding has been done in the trench itself.

Traffic has had to be detoured due to the ditch. All cars coming from the southern Vernon Road are detoured at Russell Street down to the lower Vernon highway, and around the corner where the old King Edward Hotel stood, then along Mill Street and out George Street and the Salmon Arm Highway.

The laying of the pipe is being done as rapidly as possible, and with the addition of the new city maintainer, a good deal of speed is being shown.

According to report on Tuesday morning, 1,200 feet of pipe is already in the ground and covered, while another 1,200 feet is welded and ready to drop into the trench. All told, the number of feet of pipe necessary for the entire waterworks system is 28,000 feet.

On account of traffic detouring, many of the local householders are noticing a good deal of dust from the town roads. Already workmen have the pipe covered on Cliff Street and the road levelled for travel again.

Secretary D. Carlson, of the Armstrong School, District No. 21, had George Rando, delegate of the Board, arrived home from Harrison Hot Springs at the end of the week, after having attended the School Board Convention.

Sir Ernest McMillan Heads Music Society

Sir Ernest MacMillan, Dean of the Faculty of Music at the University of Toronto and conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, has just been elected president of the Composers' Authors and Publishers Association of Canada while William S. Low, of Toronto, well known in Canadian music circles, has been appointed general manager.

These important changes in CAPAC, as the Association is generally called, were announced here following a meeting of the directors.

Sir Ernest, who has long been an outstanding Canadian composer, has served as a director of the Association for the past two years. He succeeds Henry T. Jamieson, P.O.A., who has occupied the presidency for the past 20 years and who has now retired. Among the other directors re-elected were Dr. John Murray Gibbon and Professor Claude Champagne, both of Montreal, and Mart Kenney of Toronto.

CHILDREN LIKE THEIR VITAMINS THIS WAY

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B₁, C, D, Riboflavin (B₂), and Nicotin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, undernourished, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

Appeal For Aid At Tag Day Of Institute for Blind

Guest speaker at the regular monad meeting of the Lions Club was Clarence Hembling, the district representative for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Mr. Hembling outlined the work of the Institute and cited many examples of practical assistance which had been given to blind persons in this area. He asked for support in the tag day which the C.N.I.B. is holding on Saturday.

A surprise visit was paid to the local club by their District Governor, Robert Guthrie, of Wapato, Washington. Mr. Guthrie was in the Valley on a short holiday spending some time at Beaver Lake, and he visited the Vernon club during his stay.

Another speaker at the meeting was Patrol Leader Thomas Davis, of this city, who represented the Interior of the province at the International Boy Scout Jamboree at Paris. He gave a very pleasing account of his adventures and experiences from the time he boarded the train at Vernon until he arrived back at his home.

Among the guests at the Monday gathering were six members of the newly formed club at Armstrong as well as three members from the recently organized branch at Lumby. Both these clubs have been sponsored by the Vernon group. The charter nights for these new clubs have been set for October 28 and November 4, respectively.

Last Call For Names To Be Engraved On Vernon's Cenotaph

The last call to relatives of deceased service men whose names have not yet been engraved upon the Cenotaph, has been issued by Major M. A. Curwen, secretary of the Vernon Cenotaph Committee.

All names must be sent in to T. R. B. Adams, Canadian Legion secretary, at Legion headquarters before October 10 to be engraved on the final plaque which will be placed on the Cenotaph for the Armistice Day dedication ceremony.

"It is the final chance for relatives of the deceased members of the armed forces to have those names added to the list of the others who have given their lives in the cause of freedom," said Major Curwen.

Old Time Summer Resort Goes Industrial

The small arrow at top right of this photo points to the wharf at Seaside Park, one time popular summer resort on beautiful Howe Sound, 30 miles North of Vancouver. Seaside Park's popularity was at its height just prior to the first World War. The development of other resorts in the area depleted interest in Seaside but its eclipse is not yet. A thriving pulp mill is operating and expanding alongside, known as Port Mellon. The mill is that of the Sorel Pulp Co. Ltd. The company has purchased the Seaside property including its hotel and is now carrying out an improvement and expansion program.

Woman Loses Wallet With $140 About to Go In Bank Account

Has anyone seen a black zippered wallet reported lost by Mrs. J. K. Harvey in the vicinity of the post office Tuesday afternoon?

The wallet contained the sum of $140 mostly in ten dollar bill denominations. Mrs. Harvey said she discovered the money missing when she opened up her purse to get the money out to deposit it in the bank.

"I haven't the slightest idea what could have happened to it, she said. 'I don't remember leaving my wallet anywhere.'

Papers of identification inside the wallet bear Mrs. Harvey's maiden name which is Ruth Helen Eaton, and a Vancouver address is given.

Mrs. Harvey resides in Vernon. Her husband is with the Dominion Entomology Department at the Court House.

How a Sportsman Gets By That "No Shooting" Sign

"Where can I go hunting?" This is the greatest problem which confronts the average sportsman this and every other year, according to Henry P. Davis, Remington Arms Company, and this season the situation will be more acute than ever due to the increased number of gunners.

"The problem is really one of the sportsman's own making," says Davis, "but in the majority of cases, it can be solved as easily as falling off a log backwards. All the sportsman has to do is to prove to the farmer or landowner that he is a sportsman in all that the name implies and that he wants to be a friend of the farmer."

"This certainly is not an unpleasant task and it may result in lasting and mutually enjoyable friendships. It is almost sure to solve your problem of where to go next season."

"Here are a few simple rules which may be counted upon to get results:

"ALWAYS ASK PERMISSION TO HUNT. This is nothing more than common courtesy. You wouldn't want a stranger spreading a picnic table in your own front yard, without as much as a 'by your leave,' would you?"

"Assure the farmer you will close his gates, be careful of his fences and refrain from shooting around his livestock."

"Whether you have good luck or not ALWAYS drop by and thank him on your way out. And if you DO have good luck divide your game with him. After all, he either owns the land or has charge of it, and your equity in it is nil."

"Show a sincere interest in his family, his children, his crops and his livestock."

"Compliment him on the appearance of his place, the excellence of his garden or farm crops, etc., but DON'T be gushy."

"Take along some little household gadget, such as a paring knife, a new can opener, for his wife; a trinket of some kind for his youngsters."

"Share your hard-to-get shotgun shells with him, and replace his old worn-out pocket knife with a new four-bladed pocket knife."

"Don't make yourself at home too quickly. Be friendly but don't push yourself."

"Remember that you are the farmer's guest, accorded the freedom of his fields and woodlands only through his hospitable generosity."

Be a GENTLEMAN as well as a sportsman at all times.

"Practice these few suggestions, and you won't have much trouble finding a good place to hunt next year," said Davis. "But remember that one single act of carelessness may close that territory to you, and others not so careless, too, for all time. As a group the farmer is our most generous citizen, but he can stand just so much abuse and no more. It is the duty of every sportsman to see that his hospitality is properly appreciated."

A recent survey made by conservation officers in 300 farms revealed that on 60 percent of the farms in the pleasant territory hunting is permitted, even if the land is posted, when permission is secured from the landowner.

In the 3200 interviews, 11 percent of the landowners allowed hunting without restrictions, 55 percent allowed hunting if permission was asked, 20 percent allowed only their friends to hunt, and 14 percent prohibited hunting. The 3200 interviews represent approximately two percent of all the farmers in these counties. The 14 percent prohibiting hunting is an extremely low figure and each year more and more farmers are allowing hunting.

WHEN PLANNING YOUR

Advertising

REMEMBER . . .

There's No Substitute For Circulation

Circulation pays dividends by bringing more customers into your store. More customers mean a larger sales volume for you and faster turn-over of your merchandise.

Skimping on your advertising is poor economy. One good buyer that you otherwise wouldn't have had will often more than pay your entire advertising costs. And with the additional volume of business you will do through advertising you can afford to give your customers better merchandise at lower costs to him.

If you operate a business in the Vernon trading area you haven't really started your merchandise moving until you have advertised it in The Vernon News.

We will be happy to help you plan advertising for more sales results and greater appeal. Come in and talk it over with us or call 34 and we will be glad to come to your business office.

Not even Grand Central Station in New York could equal the activity that is rampant in packinghouses throughout Vernon this week as McIntosh Reds roll along to world-wide travels.

Certainly, Grand Central could boast no more transit lines than Vernon's five packinghouses with their hundreds of feet of gravity conveyors laid out like intricate railway systems.

These conveyors are transportation kings in their own right. Thousands upon thousands of red-faced apple passengers wouldn't think of travelling on anything else. And to say that the process of selecting, grading and packing the crisp, juicy apples is at a standstill without them, is an understatement.

No less important to this multi-million dollar fruit industry are the "railway women" sorters. Highly skilled and quick of eye, these women know their red and green apples. Speedy direction of the apples into their proper channels depends on quickly they can separate the culls and green Coo grades from the red fanny and even brighter extra fancy grades.

As the apples roll along, they are weighed automatically and dropped into one of 12 bins designating sizes that range from two and one-quarter inches in diameter to three and one-half inches in Major J. T. North and his sister, Miss Ruby North, arrived last weekend from England. They plan on staying two months at their Okanagan Landing home before returning to the Old Country. This is Major North's first visit to Vernon in nine years.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gorman, of Vernon, has been the latter's aunt, Mrs. G. C. P. McIntyre, of St. John, N.B. Filming of City Finished; Ready To Show in '48

Filming of Vernon is practically completed. The National Film Board group, which for seven weeks has been poking the camera's eye into all phases of the community's life, plans to leave Vernon this week. All the details in preparing the reels for screening will not be completed until after the first of the year. It is expected the final result will be shown in Vernon in January.

Morten Parker, director of the Film Board group, expressed his appreciation of the co-operation received during the work here.

"Working here has been a complete pleasure. I wish it were possible to thank personally the scores of people who have been so very kind to us and of such considerable assistance during our several weeks of shooting. If our work went so easily, it is very much due to the wonderful co-operation we received from the people of Vernon and the district. Please do know how sincerely we have appreciated this."

He was speaking for himself, Miss Margaret Rand, location manager; Robert Rumble, cameraman; Arthur Fitzhugh, production assistant; John Caulfield, electrician, and Jack Long, still photographer.

Claims Housing Shortage Threatens Law and Order

Dissatisfaction with the attitude of Federal, Provincial and Municipal authorities towards the veterans' housing problem has been expressed in a letter to Prime Minister Macbratton from Major General C. B. Price, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion.

This letter, expressing the dissatisfaction of the veterans' body, was compiled after a cross-country survey by the Legion's Dominion Housing Committee which represents more than 2,000 Legion branches.

The Legion claimed that the neglect of the housing situation was being used by the subversively inclined to undermine law and order.

The letter reads as follows:

"If Mr. D. B. Mansur, the president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, was correctly reported in an article in the press a few weeks ago and his statement actually reflects the attitude of the government, then the Canadian Legion desires to register the strongest possible protest at the implied indifference to the plight of many thousands of married veterans whose efforts to successfully rehabilitate themselves are still being so largely thwarted for lack of decent shelter.

Need Imagination

"Like Mr. Mansur, the Legion believes that the home building situation is becoming dangerous, but also believes that a still more imaginative and realistic approach to the problem will have to be made by the Dominion Government despite the dropping of controls. It is still a post-war governmental responsibility to clear the way so that this basic need of the people can be met.

"The measures taken by the government to provide emergency shelter, Wartime Housing and building projects under the National Housing Act are proving inadequate to meet the nation's housing needs. We want many more thousands of units of Wartime Housing to rent. The lack of rapid progress appears to be due to the inability of Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities to arrive at agreements on the terms at present offered by the Dominion Government. Wherever Wartime Housing has been erected, we find happy veteran families, and the Legion is convinced that the Dominion Government should seek to devise new terms which will enable wartime houses to be built on a much larger scale.

Ask Lower Interest

"The Canadian Legion is still of the opinion that its proposal to revise the National Housing Act mortgage loan requirements as related to living units costing $7,000 or less, is one that ought to receive favorable consideration immediately. We believe that a 3 1/2 percent interest rate is a sound economic rate for loans on low cost housing, having in mind that interest on the forthcoming issue of Canada Savings Bonds is to be at the rate of 2 1/2 percent. Despite amendments the cost of the loan to a veteran is still too high, due to the 4 1/2 percent interest rate and to the practice of basing loans on some hypothetical lending value rather than on actual expenditures, thus increasing the initial cash equity. The Rt. Hon. Mr. Howe, in a letter to the Legion, indicated that a reduction in the interest rate from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 percent did not need legislation but could be effected by order-in-council.

"The Legion fully appreciates that from the underwriters' point of view, 90 percent loans based on today's inflated costs would involve an unusually high element of added risk which might conceivably increase the risk now assumed by as much as $500 per loan. However, to offset this, there is the knowledge that in the past N.H.A. loss experience on small individual mortgage loans has been negligible. And in any event, the extra underwriting risk would surely be more than justified, seeing that it presents the only practical means available whereby to ease the burden for the outright utilization of living accommodation.

More Inducement

"By easing the terms on low cost units of $7,000 or less widespread activity in building for home ownership would undoubtedly be stimulated. Monthly carrying charges would amount to little more than the rental for new houses built by Wartime Housing Limited. We believe there would be a real inducement for experienced house builders in all parts of the Dominion to exhaust every possible means of reducing construction costs in order to take advantage of the tremendous market which exists for new homes built under the government's integrated plan, to sell for $7,000 or less.

The extra large apples are handled just as if they possessed the fragility of eggs. For them, there are cardboard cartons shaped like muffin tins, fitted into the apple box for extra shipping protection.

When Egyptian or South American loaves into a "Mac" little does he realize the packing efficiency of some—Vernon—women—may—have helped make the fruit box out of those delicious Okanagan apples.

Develop Powder To Rid Cattle of Lice

Following numerous experiments agricultural scientists have developed a commercial product which has found wide use among livestock men to rid their cattle of lice. The active ingredients of this animal insect powder are rotenone and sulphur, both of which are safe to use and harmless to livestock.

While lice are not much of a problem during summer months, when autumn comes they lay their eggs and multiply. When the eggs hatch and the larvae begin to feed, cattle try to destroy them by rubbing against stanchions and other suitable supports. This results in unsightly hairless patches and breaking of skin which affords an opportunity for infectious disease to enter.

Lice usually first appear on the withers, neck and tail head. The dust should be rubbed into the affected parts with a brush or by hand until the area is thoroughly covered. Since the powder will not kill eggs, it is necessary to dust again in approximately two weeks, and a third time in another week. This should catch all species in their adult stage and provide sound insurance against further trouble from lice throughout the winter.

When cleaning wallpaper, dust hands in flour to keep cleaner from sticking to hands. The flour also improves the texture of the cleaner and makes it last longer. The secret of efficient wall cleaning is to clean the floor up, and dust particles hang downward. Cleaning from top down causes streaking.

Wealthy Tobacco Heiress Weds Again

Doris Duke, fabulously wealthy tobacco heiress, stands with her new husband, Porfirio Rubirosa, in this photo taken shortly before their recent marriage in Paris. It is the second marriage of Miss Duke, the third of Rubirosa, former son-in-law of the President of the Dominican republic.

Work of Vernon District Artists Shown at Coast

A number of Vernon artists have been successful in having their work accepted and hung in the current annual B.C. Artists' Exhibition now on view in the Vancouver Art Gallery. This is a jury show, and out of approximately 700 entries, less than 300 were accepted.

The following artists of the Vernon area were represented: Mrs. Marjorie Aldred, Oyama, landscape in oil; Miss Myra E. DeBeck, Vernon, landscape in oil; Miss E. Cools, Okanagan Centre, landscape in oil and landscape in water color; Miss Marion B. Harris, Vernon, two water color landscapes; Miss Joyce Noble, Lavington, landscape in water color; Miss Shirley Forrester, Lumby, landscape in oil; Rodney Garrett, Vernon, portrait in black and white.

Special congratulations were extended to Joyce Noble who was 14 years old when she painted the picture which was accepted and hung in this exhibition. It is believed she is one of, if not the youngest artist ever to have work exhibited at this Vancouver Exhibition.

Rodney Garrett is exhibiting for the first time. All pictures mentioned above will be seen later in Vernon.

Beet-Eating Bear Meets Waterloo On Revelstoke Streets

REVELSTOKE.—A big bear, eating beets from his neighbor's garden, confronted Dave Croll when he returned from a dance early Saturday morning of last week.

The bear reared up on its hind legs and snarled when Mr. Croll appeared. Bruin finally met his Waterloo on the city sidewalk across the street from the Court House, when Mr. Croll had obtained the necessary weapon.

The first comedy was performed in Athens about 550 B.C. on a movable scaffold.

Canada comprises one fourteenth of the world's area and has 1/102 of the world population.

Aldermen Ignore Mayor's Urging On Street Bylaw

For the third consecutive Council meeting, the aldermen have refused to act on Mayor David Howie's suggestion that the bylaw to close a portion of Coldstream Street east of Seventh Street receive the formality of its fourth and final reading. On Monday night City Clerk J. W. Wright suggested that new developments were coming up.

"I think the bylaw has been in front of you long enough for decisions now," Mayor Howie told the aldermen. There was no reply.

Two bylaws which did receive final reading set new barber shop hours and new contracts for sewers. The barber shop hours have been changed to provide for all-day Thursday closing. On other weekdays the hours are from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and 9 p.m. on Saturdays.

To speed up back-filling of street excavations for sewers to new buildings and to assure a satisfactory job, the city henceforth will undertake this job. Costs plus 2 1/2 percent for administration will be assessed against the owner of the property.

Payment is arranged by having the plumbing contractor hired by the owner deposit with the city an amount equal to $2 per lineal foot of necessary excavation. If cost to the city runs over this amount, the plumber will be billed. If it is less, the city will make a refund.

City Health

Mayor Howie asked that the Council meet as a board of health as soon as possible, pointing out there had not been such a meeting for five or six months. One topic to be discussed is the request of citizens to move into houses without proper sanitary facilities.

"If the house is on the sewer and there are no facilities, that's the end of it," said Alderman Fred Harwood.

Fruit and vegetable growers have advised that drill halls such as are being leased this winter for onion storage will be needed next year, and they have asked that the city endeavor to secure a lease on the structures as well as on the land, so the buildings would not have to be moved. Mayor Howie has contacted the Department of National Defence and the War Assets Corporation in this regard.

More Pipe

Alderman Cousins reported that Enderby's bid of $40 for a pair of the city's excess fire hall doors had been accepted. He also advised that it was possible to secure three-inch "transite" pipe in place of four-inch ordered. The latter had been decided upon as a substitute for two-inch cast pipe for urgent water services, so the three-inch pipe was readily accepted.

Sale of lots for assessed value plus 25 percent was approved to R. A. Faircloth and William Duddle.

The request of the Junior Chamber of Commerce that the metal arch dedicated to Samuel Polson, formerly over the Seventh Street entrance to Polson Park, be re-placed, was referred to the parks committee.

"There have been quite a few applications about this arch," said Mayor Howie.

"I don't know what shape it's in," advised Mr. deWolf.

Mr. deWolf has been appointed building inspector pro tem until a replacement is found for A. F. Paget, who will leave for Kamloops this month.

Wage increases of $15 per month were granted two employees of the city engineer's department, P. Neville Smith and G. J. Boer.

Five trades licenses were approved for new businesses opening in Vernon: David E. Pepper, optician; Alex Skibinsky, garage, body and fender repairs; Steve Tkachuk, painting and decorating; George Aktemelchuk, auto camp, and Eva Payne, dressmaking.

Apply 2, 4-D In Autumn

Last fall experiments were conducted on the use of 2, 4-D against weeds in fields used for the production of grass seeds. This weed-killer was mixed with fertilizer and applied as a top dressing in the fall. When the grass seeds were harvested this season there was a definite reduction in the number of weeds in the treated plots.

A total of 34 permits have been issued this month, more than half of which were for construction of new homes. Although construction has been hampered all year by lack of building materials, there is every indication that the yearly total will near the one and one-half million dollar mark.

Flour and Lard Too Expensive for CARE

Steadily rising prices have made it impossible for CARE (co-operative for American Relief in Europe) to continue its special $4 flour and $4 lard packages, announced Breen Melvin, Canadian representative of the co-operative. Mr. Melvin stated that orders for $4 packages, postmarked later than September 15, would have to be returned.

"It is with great reluctance that I make this announcement," Melvin said, "when flour and fats are so urgently needed in Europe. However, the present upward spiral of prices makes it impossible for CARE to continue these items in separate packages."

Both these items, however, are included in CARE's standard food package. Meats, sugar, milk, egg powder, chocolate, and coffee are also included in this 22-pound package, designed to help feed a family of four for a month.

All CARE packages are non-profit and delivery is guaranteed in 15 European countries where CARE has government agreements. CARE packages now available—all at the standard price of $10—include baby food, woolens or cotton textile, blankets, household linen, baby layette, and knitting yarn packages.

To order CARE packages, just send $10, plus names and addresses of both the donor and the recipient to (Canadian) CARE, 193 Sparks Street, Ottawa, Ont. A signed receipt is mailed to the donor upon delivery.

E. Davie Fulton, M.P., Says No Big Irrigation Plan

KAMLOOPS.—"It is a wrong impression that the Dominion government has been persuaded by the provincial government to vote a large sum of money for irrigation in British Columbia," E. Davie Fulton, M.P., told an audience of 150 in Masonic Hall recently.

The $100,000 earmarked for this work in B.C. was voted by Parliament on the final day of the last session, and the V.I.A. projects in the Kamloops district were included in the appropriation.

The status of the money voted for the Pemberton Meadows and for V.I.A. land settlement projects in the vicinity of Kamloops was made plain by Mr. Fulton during his review of parliament's activities during the last session.

The meeting was one of the series by which Mr. Fulton now is presenting a "Report on Parliament" to his constituents in every part of the vast Kamloops riding.

He touched on the parliamentary debate regarding continuation of some wartime controls; the budget; the attempt of B.C. members to have the federal government act on provisions extended to this province; the success which has crowned the campaign to have the department of national revenue accept the "basic herd" principle in farmers' income taxes; and he spoke on the "gerrymander" in the decennial redistribution bill by which the ridings represented by four leading Conservatives were enlarged, changed or eliminated.

Speaking on this topic when introducing Mr. Fulton, Dr. C. J. M. Willoughby, the chairman of the meeting, said the "gerrymander" was a left-handed compliment to Mr. Fulton's abilities and prospects, classing him with such top-flight Conservatives as Hon. John Bracken, J. M. Macdonnell, and the party's chief financial critic, and J. F. Deffenbacher.

Mr. Fulton's review of the highlights of the parliamentary session was dispassionate. He contented himself with outlining the implications of the several topics he spoke about, and he reviewed the arguments pro and con.

He followed this practice, he indicated during his talk, because the meetings he is holding this autumn, as also those he conducted after the previous sessions, are not "campaign meetings" but are rather gatherings at which the people's representative in parliament reports on his activities, outlines the work of the session, explains his own viewpoints, and seeks from his constituents their views and instructions.

Personally, he argued for return to parliament of its power to legislate, now made impotent by the continuation of some wartime controls by means of the "Helm 57 Varieties" bill. The government's action in introducing an omnibus bill gave the legislators no opportunity to argue the individual merits or demerits of the 57 controls continued until next spring. The parliamentarian had to vote for all or none; a sort of Hobson's choice.

He deplored the shelving of the proposed labor code and argued that if it had been enacted at the last session, there would be today machinery to provide national settlement of such disputes as in the meat packhouses. He renewed his personal belief that "industrial disputes should be settled in the same way as private disputes, by reference to a court whose decision is final."

Insofar as federal finances are concerned, Mr. Fulton holds the opinion that there should be a reduction in the indirect, hidden taxes, such as sales taxes.

Over Half Children Show Health Defects

Approximately 60 percent of children attending schools in Canada these days show one or more physical defects, according to carefully compiled statistics.

Medical and public health authorities are urging on parents the importance of pre-school medical examinations. "We are sure to give the child a chance for success in studies and in sport, by remedying any minor defects which would otherwise be a handicap."

Blocked Montgomery's Strategy

Nijmegen bridge, one of three which entered into Field Marshal Montgomery's plans to bring the war to an end in 1944. Though this bridge was captured intact by the British Guards Division after stubborn Nazi resistance, the hurdle of the bridge at Arnhem was not immediately overcome and the war was delayed nearly another year. Bad weather, flooded countryside, mines and roadblocks made progress too slow to take advantage of the sacrifices of the airborne troops who were first on the Arnhem scene.

Minors Fined $10 On Liquor Charge

Two minors charged with being in possession of liquor appeared in City Police Court before Magistrate William Morley, Tuesday morning. The two youth were George Baginall, 19, and Robert Monahan, 18. They were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs as they pleaded guilty to the offence.

Provincial Const. Edward Dunk told the court that he had investigated an accident about 1:15 a.m. Sunday, September 21, involving cars driven by Baginall and Monahan. During his investigation the constable discovered a case containing six bottles of beer. He could smell liquor on the boys' breath but they were not intoxicated, he testified.

When Magistrate Morley asked the two if they would divulge the source of supply, they answered that they "would rather not say." The magistrate warned them that the offence was serious and that it might get them into much trouble. As this was their first offence, he took a lenient view of the charge. He advised them not to indulge in hard liquor.

Saying that they could have been fined up to $50, Magistrate Morley imposed a fine of $10 and costs for each. The liquor was confiscated.

Marketing Act Gives Producer Rightful Voice—Hon. Stirling

PENTICTON, — Belief that the primary producer of agricultural products should have a voice, by delegated vote, in the marketing of his own product is prompting the federal government to pass legislation giving him that voice, Hon. Grose Stirling, M.P., told members of the Pentiction Board of Trade at their recent dinner meeting.

The legislation will be in the form of a Marketing Act, similar in effect to the Natural Products Marketing Act earlier, and would be an amplification of the present Agricultural Products Marketing Act which went into effect on March 31 this year for a period of twelve months, and by which such bodies as the B. C. Fruit Board are enabled to control the movement of apples from one province to another.

"In my opinion we have succeeded in convincing the minister of agriculture (Hon. J. G. Gardiner) who was at first a little lukewarm, of the necessity for this legislation," Mr. Stirling said, in reviewing the steps taken in getting the measure introduced into parliament.

Veterans "On Their Own" In Business Next Year

In the majority of cases, the end of 1947 is the end of granting applications for Awaiting Returns Allowances to veterans. To clear up any points in regard to this D.V.A. benefit, the Vancouver headquarters has issued the following set of questions and answers.

Department of Veterans' Affairs today answered the ten questions most frequently asked by B.C. veterans about Awaiting Returns Allowances.

Q. What is the final date that an application may be made for awaiting returns allowances?
A. December 31, 1947, unless discharge was subsequent to January 1, 1946, in which case application may be made within one year of the date of discharge.

Q. Are there any exceptions to this regulation?
A. Yes. A man who qualifies under V.L.A. may make application within one year of his qualification.

Q. What is the maximum period a veteran may receive awaiting returns?
A. For his period of service or 52 weeks, if service is over a year. There are no exceptions.

Q. May a veteran who has received awaiting returns allowances in connection with his business, sell out and re-apply in connection with a new business?
A. Yes. But before he may receive further allowances he must wait the period of time the profit on the sale would carry him at prevailing allowance rates.

Q. Is a veteran eligible for awaiting returns allowances, having once been discontinued?
A. Yes. At the discretion of the Rehabilitation Board with all facts of the case at hand, further allowances may be granted within the entitlement period.

Q. Is a veteran eligible for awaiting returns allowances if he qualifies for the business and professional loan and uses his re-establishment credits in his business?
A. Yes. Neither this loan nor re-establishment credit affects entitlement to awaiting returns allowances.

Q. May a veteran take vocational training through D.V.A. and on completion of his course, and on entering business for himself, be considered eligible for awaiting returns allowances?
A. Yes, providing the maximum entitlement was not used for the training course, the balance may be used for awaiting returns allowances.

Q. How many veterans have received the awaiting returns allowances up to date?
A. 5228 veterans have been approved in B.C.

Q. What is the number of veterans that have been discontinued from awaiting returns allowances, and what percentage of these may be considered "established"?
A. 4324 have been discontinued and of this number 715 percent have been considered "established."

Q. What is the average period of time the established veterans

Fall fertilizing assures full value from fertilizer—better annual yields of top quality fruit. Here are four orchard fertilizers which have proven their value on inferior soils.

"NITRAPRILLS" (Ammonium Nitrate 33 1/2-0-0). Government horticultural authorities maintain that nitrogen is the major plant food element needed by tree fruits in the Okanagan. "Nitraprills" are the most economical form in which nitrogen can be purchased in commercial fertilizers. "Nitraprills" contain 16.75% nitrate nitrogen and 16.75% ammonia nitrogen. Will not cake in bag under normal storage conditions.

SULPHATE OF AMMONIA 21-0-0. The standard nitrogen fertilizer, especially valuable on alkaline soils.

AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE 16-20-0. Recommended when a cover crop, which demands a phosphate fertilizer, is grown in the orchard.

C-I-L 8-10-5. A complete fertilizer for fruit trees growing on light shallow soils which require the addition of the three main plant food elements, nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

C-I-L 6-7-6. A special mix containing 60% organic materials for growers who prefer the slower continued action of an organic fertilizer.

Remember—annual applications are better than a heavy application one year, none the next. Order your requirements now from your C-I-L Fertilizer dealer or packing house.

Makes Debut at Bronx Zoo

Female Yapock is what this little creature is called. Its 14-inch tail is two inches longer than its body, and it has just made a debut at the Bronx Zoo, where officials call it "an almost legendary Central American water possum." It has silky gray fur, webbed hind feet and front feet which are pink and slender-fingered.

Education, Not Compulsion Aim of Health Unit Work

"The treatment of sickness is a doctor-patient relationship, but the prevention of sickness is a doctor-community relationship. Therefore public health services must be organized on a community basis."

Members of the Vernon Board of Trade heard these words of Dr. Edward Best, director of the North Okanagan Health Unit, in an address at their meeting on Tuesday of last week. Dr. Best stressed education and personal contact as the basis of health service, and the use of authority or "the flexing of our muscles" as a last resort.

The treatment of disease has occupied man's attention since he first muttered incantations over a sick body to drive out the evil spirits, said Dr. Best. Specific measures for the prevention of disease are a relatively new concept in the history of medicine.

The Health Unit director asserted that this resulted from the observation of apparent co-incidences such as the arrival of a ship in port, followed by an outbreak of the plague. Another was the prevalence of typhoid in an area where houses were built along polluted streams. Others were the outbreak of scurvy amongst seamen and the absence of smallpox in milkmaids.

Trained Personnel

The speaker described the various specific measures which were taken against these and other diseases. He went on to say that the prevention of disease requires a knowledge of the disease process as well as does the treatment, and for this reason public health personnel must include qualified doctors and nurses and other specially-trained sanitary inspectors, engineers, nutritionists, and others as the need arises.

In British Columbia, the public health personnel are members of the Civil Service and this has several advantages. For instance, it results in similar training and methods used by the various staffs; an overall guidance; a staff of highly trained experts; a constant interchange of ideas, and the instruction and supply of personnel.

Costs

Dr. Best said that the cost of the services was about $125 per person a year, while the cities and municipalities pay only 30 cents of this. The remainder is paid by the province, and it is hoped that eventually the Dominion may share a part. As basis for payment, the population credited to each city and municipality is six times the number of children each sends to school. The population served in this district is estimated at over 20,000.

Services

"The North Okanagan Health Unit has specific services to offer every person in this end of the valley, be they newborn babes or persons getting along in years. As a matter of fact, we are not satisfied with the newborn babies. We are anxious to help mothers prepare in every way possible for the addition to their family."

The unit director outlined the divisions of this service. They are: the expectant service, the care of the infant, the pre-school child, the school-age child, and adult and community service. Each of these was elaborated on and a review of other workings of the organization was given to the Board of Trade meeting.

In conclusion, Dr. Best stated, "Health unit has an excellent record of progress and it is regarded highly in Victoria. This is in a large measure due to the support our health unit has received from the citizens of Vernon."

Speeding in School Zone

Speeding through a school zone was the cause for a fine of $10 and costs to Michael B. Warway in City Police Court Monday morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate William Morley.

The speeding took place on Seventh Street on Tuesday, September 23, about 1:15 p.m., when the children were still going into school. Corporal J. A. Knox said that the accused was going 30 miles per hour through the zone north on Seventh Street.

Natural hot water from many of Okanagan's volcanic springs is piped to provide heating for buildings and swimming pools.

In the evening, a group of young people from the Y.P.U. of Vernon United Church conducted the service, with Tom Bulman giving an excellent talk on the importance of the work of the Y.P.U.

Mrs. Nellie McKenna, of Vancouver, spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Robertson. Mrs. D. Lindsay returned Friday after two weeks spent with relatives at the Coast. Mrs. Wilfred Hardy arrived home

Mrs. H. Phillips is away on an extended visit to prairie points including Edmonton and Saskatoon. Clarence Simpson, of New Westminster, was a weekend visitor to his former home here.

Considerable anxiety is felt by parents of high school pupils, as so far there has been no provision made for tuition of these pupils who at present intend to take correspondence with the help of the principal, Mr. Forsyth.

Louie Henderson returned from Vancouver with a new truck, which he plans to use for delivery service.

Cyclist In Trinity Valley

TRINITY VALLEY, Oct. 1.—Kenneth Connick, of Kamloops, visited friends in the Valley last week. He recently completed a three months' tour by motorcycle through the three western provinces and also Washington, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana.

Several neighbors gathered at the home of J. P. LePage, Thursday, when a demonstration dinner was given. A. J. Ratcliffe, of Brandon, Man., is visiting at the home of his brother, F. J. Ratcliffe. The hunting season got off to an inauspicious start with very little reporting a scarcity of deer.

has proven a nuisance to 17 property owners who petitioned the Council to all the roadway as soon as possible.

See What Can Be Done

City Engineer F. G. deWolf told the Council there was 1,000 gallons of asphalt on hand but it would not serve to lay dust unless cut with diesel oil, which was an expensive proposition. Asked if he could not order some oil he explained that it would be necessary to get a carload of 6,000 gallons for a job which would require about 500 or 1,000 gallons. It was suggested he contact a road construction company working in the district. They too, used the heavy oil which required thinning with diesel fuel. Mr. deWolf will "see what he can do."

The petition of four property owners on Tronson Street requesting a cement sidewalk brought up the fact that the city was just now getting around to sidewalk construction some of which had "been on the books" for four years. A petition from Aubrey Street had been approved in the estimates two years ago.

Priority Alderman Adams suggested the latest Tronson Street petition take its place in order of priority. Alderman Fred Harwood suggested it be paved as quickly as possible because of rapid development in the area. It was referred to the Board of Works "to see how things go." In the meantime, Aubrey Street residents will be advised to get up a new petition to replace the one of two years ago because so much of the property has changed hands and the new owners must signify their desire for a sidewalk.

Lee Kee Asked that Consideration be given to the fact that his 1947 tax bill was based on improvements valued at $400, while the B.C. Cafe had burned down on February 1. Taxes of $87.20 for a "naked lot" he considered "a lot of money." He will only be charged one-twelfth of the $22.40 levy on the burned down cafe.

Dentists Unfairly Charged

Through J. R. Kiddon, the dental surgeons inquired of the Council when the bylaw raising the water rates to $4 per chair had been approved by order-in-council, because they had been billed at the new rate for three or four months. Alderman E. B. Cousins pointed out that the bylaw had been duly passed by the Council but never sent to Victoria for ratification, pending a revision of the rates. This was held up because Alderman Cousins wished to see what action might be taken at the convention of B.C. Municipal-ties in regard to the proposed business tax levies.

Mayor David Howie suggested that the City Hall had been a little too anxious to collect the higher rate before the bylaw was ratified.

Later in the meeting, Alderman Cousins said that when the Council had dealt with the water rates affecting dentists, it "must have overlooked how we are penalizing them." He gave notice of motion to amend the bylaw to reduce the rates. A similar adjustment also will be made for service stations which do not wash cars as a regular part of their business.

"Army" Canvassers Working to Obtain $3,133 Quota Here

The Salvation Army Red Shield campaign for funds has raised over one-third of its $3,133 objective in the Vernon district. Although the drive was intended to end this week, considerable canvassing remains and committees will continue working towards the objective.

Canvassers in the Coldstream district is under C. "Scotty" McCloud. T. S. Martyn heads the Vernon committee. Lavington residents will be visited in the near future.

Building Interior Roads At History Making Pace

(Ronald White, editor of the Kamloops Sentinel, recently made a tour over roads in the Interior of B.C., and upon his return, wrote a story on the condition of highways. In view of the fact it is of interest to readers of The Vernon News, Mr. White's story appears in full.)

By RONALD WHITE

Construction of highways to modern standards is now proceeding in the Interior of British Columbia at a pace never before approached in the history of the province.

If there is no interruption, the next two or three years will see the development of a main road highway system commensurate with today's requirements.

Public Works Minister E. O. Carson has stated the construction program is working to the limit of equipment and men available, both through public works department crews and by the letting of contracts to companies which had worked on the building of the Alaska Highway, on wartime airfields, and other big projects.

An example of what may be expected in new work can be seen in the recently completed stretch between Cache Creek and Ashcroft. It is a fine piece of highway as one could wish anywhere. A road of similar standards is now being built east of Kamloops between the Goodwin ranch and Monte Creek and up the "Sandhill" for 6.7 miles on the Vernon road. True, these are only pieces, but it seems reasonable to expect a continuation and expansion of this program to meet the insistent demand for modernization of B.C.'s main roads.

Inspected 700 Miles

To see something of what is going on, the writer took a two-day trip with District Engineer W. Ramsay through a part of the huge territory under his jurisdiction. His territory, by the way, stretches from beyond Hope in the west to Golden at the eastern end of the Big Bend, thus including the Fraser Canyon highway, all of the Kamloops area, including the North Thompson, as well as the Hope-Princeton road, the Similkameen and Okanagan valleys, and through to Revelstoke and the Big Bend.

In the two days we travelled from Kamloops to Spences Bridge, Merritt and Princeton; thence out over the Hope-Princeton highway for a few miles; down the Similkameen on the new highway still under construction between Princeton and Hedley; on to Keremeos, over to the Okanagan and south through Oliver and Osoyoos to the boundary; north through the Okanagan to Enderby, thence east to Revelstoke, up the Big Bend a short distance, and back to Kamloops via Canoe. We travelled almost 700 miles.

It is amazing to see the extent of new highway work in progress throughout this area and to learn something of the plans for continued extension of top-standard paved highways.

Biggest project by long odds is the southern provincial highway, of which the Hope-Princeton road is only a part.

The Hope-Princeton highway is being built to modern standards, wide, with easy grades and long, sweeping curves. The roadway is 34 to 36 feet wide and will have a pavement 24 feet in width.

Neither on the Hope-Princeton road nor anywhere else, is pavement being laid flat on the ground. The roadbed is all built up for drainage and after the grade becomes established, gravel is spread 12 inches deep. On top of this goes about 6 inches of crushed gravel, and on top of this the asphalt surface, two and one-half inches in thickness. Built in this way, there should be no breaking up of the pavement and maintenance should be at a minimum for many years.

Bridges on the Hope-Princeton highway are of steel and concrete construction of pleasing design.

Hon. E. O. Carson has publicly said when the Hope-Princeton highway is opened it will have been all paved—a completed highway ready for full traffic.

Beyond Princeton

But the traveller from Vancouver will not come to the end of the new road at Princeton. Similar construction is being carried through from Princeton to the Okanagan. The portion from Princeton to Hedley is now almost ready for surfacing. It is on the opposite side of the Similkameen River from the present highway and follows the old grade of the abandoned Great Northern Railway line, widened, of course, to the standard of 34 feet. From Hedley to Keremeos the present road, on which considerable reconstruction was carried out in recent years, will be used and is now primed and ready for asphalt surfacing. But from Keremeos through to the Okanagan practically a whole new road will be built. The contracts have been let and work is already starting, with two shifts—day and night.

In the Okanagan Valley there is considerable discrepancy in the standard of the main highway. Some parts recently rebuilt are splendid roads; better could not be asked for. But such stretches are only spotted here and there and considerable work will be required to standardize the in-between portions. New full-width paving from the boundary north through Osoyoos and Oliver carries the traveller through a booming, prosperous country, with the business centres at Osoyoos and Oliver refreshing in their newness and smartness.

Between Peachland and Westbank contractors have just completed a new highway. Extension northward toward the ferry from the town of Westbank is next on the list, and the necessary right-of-way through the Indian reserve is now being acquired.

Work in recent years has already given the area north of Kelowna a fine highway. Some work is contemplated there this season, raising with gravel and resurfacing a piece between Postville and Winfield which has given much trouble with breaking up.

New Road North of Armstrong

Going north, no new work is encountered on the highway until the Armstrong district is reached. Here an entirely new highway sweeps straight through the centre of that rich agricultural valley. This will soon be ready for surfacing. As everywhere else where new main roads are being built, this is all full width, with easy drainage and topped with gravel and crushed gravel before surfacing.

Between Sicamous and Revelstoke the mileage of surfaced road is being extended. Contractors are now laying asphalt on 5.3 miles in the vicinity of Taft. Already 9.5 miles of pavement—one of the finest stretches in the country—runs east from Sicamous. Much of the basic construction for these two stretches was accomplished by the Jap camps during the war.

From the Revelstoke end six miles of highway this way have just been paved—with the exception of eight-tenths of a mile at Three Mile railway crossing, the first crossing this side of Revelstoke. A contract has been let for a revision of the road there and work has already commenced. An overhead crossing is not feasible—nor is an underpass—so an improved level crossing with wigwag signals will be built.

Along the Trans-Canada Highway

The scenery, pictured above, along the Kicking Horse Trail, west of Field, is always beautiful, and the highways are being improved so motorists can enjoy the landscape, says Ronald White, of Kamloops, in his survey of highway construction in the Interior.

The first mile of the Big Bend north of Revelstoke to the entrance of Mt. Revelstoke National Park also, has been surfaced.

Three Valley Big Problem

Public works crews are busy on other parts of the road through Eagle Pass and it is expected that rock work at least can be continued all winter. Some parts of the road are narrow and rough, but these are to be either abandoned or widened. New grades have been laid out. However, there is one part at least where no decision has yet been made. That is the narrow one-way piece along the straight rock bluff at Three Valley Lake. A tunnel has been considered but it would take a good thousand-foot tunnel to escape just the sheerest portion.

At Kay Falls a new steel and concrete bridge is being built. The abutments are now ready for the steel.

Coming back towards Kamloops, one looks to the day when the bridge will be built over the river at Sicamous and the road between Sicamous and Salmon Arm widened to full standards.

Work Planned East of Kamloops

Revisions are planned in the Tappen area to replace the C.P.R. level crossing with an overhead crossing and to eliminate a series of winding curves by a new location which will sweep boldly over the country.

In the Sorrento area there is talk of the C.P.R. replacing its grade over Notch Hill with an easier one via Blind Bay and it appears that the highway location will to some extent at least be determined on the basis of what the railway does.

A Squilax, asphalt is now being spread on the new piece of highway there, connecting up with that laid last year along Little Shuswap Lake. Coming near home, it is to be hoped that the projected revision of the Trans-Canada between Chase and Monte Creek can be carried out next year to link up with the work now being done at the latter point. This will then leave the few miles directly out of Kamloops to the east to be constructed. Although this is rough, it is at least free from dust. If only one project could be carried out on the Trans-Canada east of the city this year, the choice of the Monte Creek section is undoubtedly the wise one.

Jobs in Progress Total 400 Miles

The total mileage of construction and reconstruction, under contract in the area covered, including the entire Hope-Princeton, is approximately 140 miles and is being done under the supervision of the local and construction engineer's department, while all day labor work is looked after by the public works forces stationed in the various districts.

Perhaps, as contracts are completed on the southern provincial highway and men and equipment are released it will be possible to concentrate on the Trans-Canada.

Back of this, and of the Big Bend in particular, lies the great need for a federal highway policy. The dominion of Canada should have a policy whereby it will pay a stated portion of the construction and maintenance of at least one highway right across the dominion. Action along this line is long overdue and early enactment would allow the provincial authorities to lay plans which are now held up.

This general policy has provincial government support. Provincial Works Minister E. O. Carson this week is attempting to have the provincial governments get together on formulating road building programs to be effected with dominion government assistance to forestall a depression if and when the danger arises.

Mr. Carson will make his representations at a meeting in St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., of the Canadian Good Roads Association. The provinces should decide, Mr. Carson thinks, whether dominion aid should be limited to Trans-Canada, north and south, international, entry roads from the U.S., or other highways.

With him Mr. Carson will take British Columbia's huge long-term postwar road-building program prepared during the war. At that time it was estimated that carrying out of this program would cost $210,000,000. At present prices, Mr. Carson says, it would cost more than $300,000,000.

Garages and equipment sheds were shipshape and all is run with strict adherence to business principles. Everything is accounted for and charged against the work in hand. For example, each piece of public works department equipment used on a job has a rental value per day which is charged to the work. This rental fund provides for the maintenance of the machine, and for its replacement when worn out.

Secondary Road Also Improved

One other angle should be mentioned. In addition to main road construction, secondary roads are being steadily improved. Revisions on a lesser scale are being constantly carried out with the result that each year—though it seems a slow process—there is steady improvement. More than one is being surfaced, too, as witness the paving being done on the Brocklehurst, Westside and Indian School roads here. Unorganized towns such as Ashcroft and Keremeos have had paving laid down on chief streets.

While the public demand for better roads is a long way from being met, the present program is most encouraging and if it is carried through without interruption for the next two or three years this era will go down in British Columbia history as the one in which we built roads commensurate with the skill and equipment of the day.

Radium "Sees" Flaws In Metal Castings

Gamma rays emitted by that wonder element, radium, enable the engineer to "see" through metal, detecting dangerous internal flaws in welds or castings. By means of these rays, the internal structure of the metal is recorded on photographic film without the need for cutting samples of the product. Experience during war-time, proved the value of radiographic inspection in maintaining high quality and close control in the development of new products.

Radiology will be used by the British Columbia Research Council to examine castings produced in the experimental foundry station. Studies in radiographic technique will also be carried out. In order that this valuable technique may be utilized by British Columbia industry, the council is also making available the services of its staff for the radiography of industrial cast and welded products.

Apple Authorities Optimistic of Industry's Future

Past, Present, Future of Apple Industry Reviewed

A high quality product and continuing success of co-operative marketing under B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. indicate a reasonably promising future for fruit growers, A. I. Loyd, president and general manager of Tree Fruits, told delegates at the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention in Kelowna last week. He spoke on the past, present and future of the fruit industry of Canada.

The past had seen a great and rapid growth of production, especially in B.C. "Suicidal competition among producers" necessitated a central selling agency. The objective was to eliminate unnecessary costs to give some prosperity to the man on the land and to fit the farmer into the economic system of the country.

The war and present world-wide economic difficulties have greatly reduced overseas shipment, especially to Great Britain, which had taken almost 50 percent of B.C. crop. Nova Scotia always has been largely dependent on United Kingdom sales and now is seeking to adapt to domestic markets.

For the Future

"One factor above all is necessary to insure future security and that is the production of products of high quality, which will be recognized by the consumers as full value for his dollar," said Mr. Loyd. "The Canadian farmer will find his best insurance in reliable, attractive products."

He looked for overseas trade to regain its importance when present financial difficulties are smoothed away. In the meantime, much could be done to service Canadians better.

The B.C. central selling agency was a great aid in getting the highest possible return to the producer, but at the same time "there is no exploitation of the consumer," said Mr. Loyd. "A consumer observer has free access to meetings of the Board of Governors of the Company (B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.) and can sit in at these meetings when the governors are discussing policy."

Mr. Loyd congratulated the Canadian Federation of Agriculture on its efforts to secure Dominion marketing legislation and asked that they continue and increase their demands for such legislation, "designed to protect the primary producer."

The word grenade was taken from the French word pomegranate, because of a resemblance in shape to the fruit.

Engine, Wedding Bells Too Noisy Around Penticton

PENTICTON — Implementing decisions reached at a recent general meeting, the Penticton Board of Trade has made strong representations to the Municipal Council to introduce an "anti-noise" bylaw.

In a letter from H. B. Morley, secretary, the board has pointed out some of the more grievous disturbances, notably bells and whistles of switch engines, exuberant wedding parties, and trucks with a cut-out exhaust.

In discussion, it was pointed out that the question of eliminating the bell has already been referred to the municipal solicitors for opinion.

"We have a nuisance bylaw which should take care of the trucks and other noises," pointed out Reeve Robert Robert Lyon. "We must ask the police to see that it is enforced."

Look to Domestic Apple Market, Warns Authority

"Look to the domestic market," was the advice of Samuel Fraser, world authority on the apple industry, when he addressed 300 growers of the North Okanagan in Vernon on Thursday last week.

Mr. Fraser, secretary of the International Apple Association, could describe the intricate workings of cells in an apple in terms of "a water cooled motor"; he could picture from first-hand experience the plantings in the valleys of Korea; he could quote production figures of this year, last year, almost any year, for any country which grows apples commercially. But at the very outset of his address, Mr. Fraser stated, "I don't want you to believe a thing I tell you." What he desired was that the growers analyze his advice, test it out in their own orchard or their own organization, and "see if it is so."

"There are a lot of goldbricks to be sold to farmers, especially now you have some money."

World Picture

The reason Mr. Fraser advised B.C. growers to look to the domestic apple market was that production has increased in many countries of the world in the past few years.

The International Apple Association embraces 23 countries, with a total membership of 1,500 firms and organizations, of which B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. is one.

"The world is going over our desks each day," said Mr. Fraser, beginning to give an outline of world production. The United States has been curtailing its production of apples markedly in the past 12 or 15 years. Where at one time there were about 200,000,000 trees there are now about 70,000,000. There was a loss of about a million trees a year.

Since 1930, Canada embarked on a policy of building up its production, said Mr. Fraser, with the prospect of maintaining the Great Britain market. Then Britain's apple market was that produc-

Vernon Students May Enter Legion Poppy Poster Competition

Students of the Vernon High School, as well as those from other schools throughout Canada, may compete in the Poppy Poster Competition, which is being sponsored by the Canadian Legion, B. E.S.L. The competition is being held so that the memory of Canada's fallen heroes may be forever fresh in the minds of the growing generation.

The Legion also is hopeful that the competition will encourage art students in their work. It is planned that the winning entries will be exhibited in each province and will also be used by the Legion in their Poppy Day publicity.

Nine provinces of $25 will be given to the winners from each province and a special additional prize of $50 will be presented to the entry considered by the judges as the best in Canada. It is hoped to run this competition annually.

The drawings may be in color or in black and white and they must symbolize in some fashion the story of the poppy. The entries should not exceed 12 by 15 inches in size. The competition will close on Saturday, October 25.

Few at Exposition Meeting: Sure of Future Success

After a highly successful origin, the Vernon-Okanagan Industrial Exposition will be continued in the future and be constituted as an annual affair. At a general meeting of the Exposition Association on Wednesday night of last week, the first week in May was suggested as a likely time in which to hold the second annual show.

The formal resolution to make the event an annual undertaking caused varied discussion on the part of the 20 or 30 people in attendance. The point of contention was in relation to whether or not the meeting was representative of the public and the various service clubs and organizations.

Responsibility of All

Walter Bennett, vice-president of the association, said that the people who comprised Wednesday night's meeting "all took an active part" in the affair. He understood that invitations to attend had been sent to the clubs and "it does not make sense when the representatives are not here." He added that the purpose of the meeting was to get public reaction.

H. J. Thornton asserted that the people would respond and he felt that those in attendance could be a representative group. "It is the responsibility of every citizen and every businessman," was a statement by Charles McDowell, executive member. "I do not see why we should carry the fight all by ourselves, and he added, I would like to see much more interest from the public and the merchants who are really profiting from the exposition." Mr. Thornton stressed the need for immediate action regarding organization for next year.

New Officers

The meeting decided to proceed with the business and they turned to the election of officers. The executive slate was elected as follows: president, Mayor David Howrie; vice-president, Walter Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. E. T. Bufton; executive officers, Bert McDowell, Guy P. Bagnall, Charles McDowell, J. C. Martin and Alderman D. D. Harris.

D. E. Berry who resigned as secretary-manager stated his willingness to carry on until the executive could appoint another person to the position.

The meeting moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Thornton and R. G. Birch, both retiring members of the first executive.

The chairman of the various committees made their reports to the meeting, and in each case stressed the idea of future shows. Although pointed out in different ways, each chairman underlined the fact that the future was of prime importance.

Limitless Value

Publicity chairman, Walter Bennett, said that the advertising that went into the first year's exposition was "not a bad thing" but with what we are going to do, Mr. Bennett pointed out that the exposition "has limitless value in publicity for this city" and added that "every citizen must do his part for the expansion and continuance of the exposition."

Mr. Thornton, in his report, stated that last year proved that everybody in the community could work together and not as several isolated groups. He felt that the exposition could compare with the exhibition at Vancouver, and that the Vernon project should be a spring show comparable to the fall show at the Coast.

"The non-commercial exhibits came through fully to my expectations," said Mr. Bagnall, who was chairman of that committee. He suggested that K. Beattie, principal of the Vernon Elementary School, might prepare a pamphlet on the school exhibit and distribute it to other schools throughout Canada. In addition, he emphasized the importance of home industries for future shows.

Apple Advice By World Authority

About 300 orchardists in the North Okanagan went home from a meeting Thursday evening ready to do some experimenting and improvement of their orchards. They had listened to Samuel Fraser, graduate of Edinburgh University, Fellow of the Highland Agriculture Society, former assistant professor of agronomy at Cornell University, grower of McIntosh apples for about 50 years, and secretary of the International Apple Association.

But in spite of all his college degrees, there was not a technical word in his discourse, and he warned the listeners not to believe a word he said, but to prove for themselves if his advice was applicable to their orchards.

He had been brought to the Okanagan by B. C. Tree Fruits Ltd., and was introduced by David McNair, sales manager. He was accompanied by Samuel Cohodas, of Ishpeming, Mich., president of International Apple Association, and Paul W. Seon, of Wenatchee, Wash., chairman of the board of directors. Dolph Brown was chairman of the meeting.

Well-Fed Macs

The Macs he had seen in Valley orchards compared favorably with any he had seen anywhere (and Mr. Fraser is world traveler), in the manner of being "fed."

A wood bud growth of eight inches this season on 1946 growth showed the trees were maintained in vigor for regular bearing.

It was important in feeding trees he said, to make fertilizer available to every root, for each root fed a particular branch of the tree. This had been proven by experiment. Fertilizer diets was a matter for local study, said Mr. Fraser.

Frequently referring to the apple tree as a water-cooled motor, he emphasized the importance of moisture supply. Apples needed 22 inches of water a year "just to keep cool" and 10 inches to "wash away debris," to get rid of the exhaust or waste material in soil and tree from operation of the "motor." This was an average figure necessarily in need of study in each district.

"Shading provided the 'power' and trees must be planted with this in mind, despite the fact that 'the sun works for nothing, but' (Continued on Page 16)

Nervous Gunman Menaces Couple Parking in Car

PENTICTON — Menaced at the point of a gun by an intruder, a local pair, Oscar Sather and Miss Connie Ehrman, had a frightening experience here on September 21.

Out for an evening drive, the couple had parked just off the highway on the "claybank" road, when about 9 p.m. the stranger who, according to Miss Ehrman, was "highly nervous" appeared suddenly at the side of the car, his gun pointed menacingly.

The gunman ordered Mr. Sather to leave the car and "get down that road." When the local man showed reluctance to leave his companion, a shot rang out. Sather left, hoping to find a way to cross the meadow and summon help.

The thug then turned his attention to Miss Ehrman who endeavored to lock herself in the car. Before she was able to do so, the intruder grappled with her, attempting to force her out of the vehicle.

"He did not say very much and made no effort to rob us," Miss Ehrman said. "I had moved over to the wheel side of the car and was struggling with him when the headlights of a car shone on us. Apparently thinking the approaching car would keep straight down the road we were on, he turned and ran off into the darkness."

In the meantime Mr. Sather had made his way to the highway and, with the aid of a passing car, had reached a telephone and summoned the police.

The neighborhood was scoured but no trace of the gunman could be found, nor were police able to find the spent cartridge.

... "And Then There Were None"

Harold was just an old sheep-counter. Every night, before he got to sleep, he counted thousands of sheep...

Then one day an Experienced Friend suggested maybe it was the caffeine in the Tea and Coffee he drank that kept the sheep jumping over the fence... So Harold STOPPED tea and coffee, and changed to POSTUM...

And right away he only got a few hundred sheep over the fence before sleep overcame him...

And in a few nights only a dozen...

And then there were none!

Many people can safely drink tea and coffee. But others are upset by the caffeine these beverages contain. If you find yourself sleepless, nervous, irritable — try changing to Postum. You'll like its rich, heart-warming flavor. Not like tea, not like coffee, just a grand flavor all its own.

Easy to fix — make Postum right in the cup just by adding boiling water or hot milk. Costs less than 1¢ a serving.

Students Raid Own Gardens For Junior Red Cross Sale

The pupils of Vernon Elementary School are holding a fresh fruit and vegetable sale on Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to augment the funds of the Junior Red Cross.

The children are being asked to bring whatever they can to the school for the sale. According to Mrs. A. L. Macdonnell, in years past they've managed to bring everything from boxes of apples and sacks of potatoes to pumpkins and squash.

Housewives are urged to drop by the school Friday where they'll see the produce lined up on tables in the school with scores of eager, fresh faced grade six youngsters standing by to serve them.

For those who purchase more than they can carry, there's a bicycle delivery service, points out Mrs. Macdonnell. At the same time, other grade six students will canvass homes for orders.

The fresh produce sale idea originated with the well known Victory Gardens during the war and is being continued on much the same basis. Where wartime gardens have dropped out of the picture, regular home gardens and fruit farms are counted upon to take up the slack.

Besides fresh fruits and vegetables, several varieties of freshly cut flowers will also be sold.

Vernon Bride to Live in Nelson

White and yellow chrysanthemums and dahlias formed the setting for a beautiful wedding ceremony in the All Saints' Anglican Church, Wednesday, which joined together in holy matrimony Carol Mary Stuart Martin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Martin, and Alastair Stewart McKinnon, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McKinnon, of Cumberland. Rev. H. C. B. Gibson performed the ceremony.

The bride, wearing a white liberty gown with five-foot train, was given in marriage by her father. The exquisite lines of her gown were accented by a gathered bodice, sweetheart neckline, Mary Queen of Scots puffed long sleeves, and buttons down the back. A long flowing veil of very fine net was caught in a headpiece of old lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of Tailsman roses and white gardenias.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Parker, of Okanagan Centre, was attired in a pink satin, princess-styled gown with buttons down the back. She wore a headpiece of pink feathers.

R. Finlayson, of Vernon, was best man.

Following the ceremony, about 125 guests congregated on the lawn of the bride's home for the reception which featured a three-tier wedding cake decorated with miniature chrysanthemums and birds made of icing. The cake was set off by a maze of white tulle around the base.

Attired in a black and white silk gabardine dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses, Mrs. Martin received the guests. Mrs. McKinnon, who looked smart in a grey suit, black accessories and a corsage of pink roses, assisted her.

The toast to the bride was proposed by W. R. Pepper, and the groom responded. L.A.C. Kent proposed the toast to the matron of honor, to which the best man responded.

For her honeymoon ensemble, the bride chose a dark blue tailored suit with reptile brown accessories, accented by a corsage of white gardenias. Following a trip to the United States, the couple will make their home in Nelson where the bride spent two years in social service work upon her graduation from the University of B.C. She was a member of the Alpha Delta Pi fraternity. The groom was formerly an officer in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. D. C. Tuck, of Vancouver; Miss E. Clarke, of New Westminster; and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Maitland, of Vancouver.

For the Bride

Mrs. Alex McKinnon, the former Miss Carol Martin, who was married Wednesday, had two showers held in her honor recently.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Miss Enid Dennison and Mrs. Frank Watson at the Dennison residence, Monday, September 22, when 22 friends of the bride bestowed gifts piled high inside a laundry basket decorated in pink crepe paper, accented with blue bows and backgrounded by streamers.

A "kitchen" shower was given by Miss Robin Clarke and her sister, Mrs. Janet Crawshaw, September 15 at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jervis Clarke. Gifts were laid out over the lower floor of the house and the bride is reported to have worked really hard for her prizes that night.

There was also a tea given in her honor September 17 that the home of Mrs. Osborne Morris. About eight girl friends attended and partook of the delightful spread.

Past Success Raises I.O.D.E. T.B. Seal Quota

Vernon and district's 1946 Christmas seal quota of $2,000 was one of the highest proportionate quotas in the province. Mrs. V. M. McGee, executive secretary of the B.C. Tuberculosis Society, told the members of Chrysler Chapter, I.O.D.E. Christmas seal committee at a meeting in the home of Mrs. R. Fitzmaurice, Regent, Thursday.

This year the committee is shooting for $3,000 worth of Christmas seals. Busy making plans are Mrs. T. M. Gibson, who represents Vernon on the B.C. Tuberculosis Society, Mrs. T. Everard Clarke, Mrs. R. Ley, Mrs. Tierney O'Keefe, Mrs. C. W. Corrigan, Mrs. Ray Hunter, Mrs. Fitzmaurice and Mrs. R. N. Chambers who is convener for the Christmas seal campaign.

Christmas seals will be mailed out in November, beginning November 10, and it will likely be around the end of January before returns are completed, Mrs. Chambers says.

"Keeping the mailing list up to date is the most difficult part of the whole campaign. We just have to get hold of names and addresses the best we can," she said.

Coldstream W.I. Hears Vancouver Kitchen Expert

The Coldstream Women's Institute Hall was the scene of a delightful party on Thursday when Mrs. Margaret Henderson, of the Vancouver Daily Province, was the guest speaker.

The hall was gay with autumn flowers and a most delicious tea was served by the members. The president, Mrs. M. A. Curwen, welcomed the guests who included several members from the Lumby Women's Institute, and introduced the speaker, Mrs. H. R. Urquhart gave the vote of thanks.

Mrs. C. Haines and Mrs. B. Hensley were in charge of the tea, to which the members contributed. Mrs. Henderson gave a most delightful address on a variety of subjects, all connected with homemaking, including several recipes and useful hints. She is very anxious to see all girls really trained in the art of home making and urged the Women's Institute to work for the establishment of schools with that objective.

After she had spoken, she answered the many questions which were put to her, ranging from whole wheat bread, through canning and cakes and how to use "left-overs."

Monkey Business On Foot

South African shoe designers recently indulged in a little monkey business. At a showing of high style women's footwear, shoes were displayed trimmed with monkey's hair. And there were buyers, too—from the United States, Dublin and the United Kingdom.

In summing up his sermon, Rev. Yerburch continued, "If any of you ever feel that way, look out one night at the star-spangled sky, with its myriad worlds spinning and rotating in orderly fashion. Think, God created it. Look at a seed and wonder at the mystery underlying its dull exterior, meditate on the life that will cause it to grow, and produce beautiful flowers. God planted that germ of life. Consider yourself and the power of reason that enables you to think these things out in a such a wonderful way. God gave you that power. Then thank with all your heart the good God who crowneth the year with His goodness."

Ten is grown from sea level up to 7,000 feet, and generally speaking, tea from higher altitudes is superior to the lower-growth tea.

Lighter Nail Polish for Stubby Hands Says Beauty Editor

Women with short, stubby hands and stubby fingernails frequently ask whether they should use nail polish. The answer, according to Drug Merchandising's beauty expert, is yes.

The writer warns, however, that deep blood reds and brown reds should be avoided. Light, bright shades—pinks and true reds—will give the shorter hands a well-groomed appearance without emphasizing their stubbiness.

Another point for the cosmeticians is that long fingernails don't suit stubby hands—they just look silly. Such hands should have short, gracefully rounded nails for best effect.

School Children Send 500 Pairs Shoes to Britain

Vernon's school children have done it again. As a result of their generosity and hard work, some 500 British children will each have a sturdy pair of Canadian made shoes this winter—and they won't have to surrender any coupons, either.

For the shoes, of all types and sizes, aren't new. But they are in good condition. They will be shipped to England this fall as part of the Provincial Junior Red Cross donation of 100,000 pairs of footwear to youngsters in Britain who are between the ages of two and 14.

Using Vernon Elementary School as a collection depot, the children "scrounged around" for discarded shoes which they had outgrown but which were still in fairly good condition. They tied them together in pairs and attached a tag indicating the size of the shoes before turning them in.

The Vernon branch of the Junior Red Cross under the leadership of Mrs. A. L. Macdonnell, shipped the fourth and last carton of shoes to Vancouver Tuesday. From there, shoes collected by school children all over the province, will be transported to England for immediate distribution.

When parents take their children to a dentist, they should treat it as a routine matter and not as a momentous occasion, say specialists. They should let the dentist do the talking for it is his advice for which payment is being made.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Beautician Gives Answer to Critics of Cosmetic Costs

“Only One Face In a Lifetime”—
A woman only gets one face in a lifetime. It's natural that she should do everything within her power to preserve it. There's the answer, ladies, to those critics (mostly male) who would ridicule the millions spent annually by American and Canadian women on cosmetics.

Yet, straight from the lips of a cosmetic specialist, Miss Mable McCaw of Toronto, who was in Vernon last week, comes word that a habitual inner glow has even more preservative qualities than powder, creams and lipsticks. A philosophy of life that bespeaks contentment, combined with health, are the magical ingredients required to ward off the “worry lines,” although cold cream, it's to be admitted, helps.

The Angle
Should hubby, however, be the sort who can't fathom why the cold cream has to be left on all night to have a lubricating effect, Miss McCaw offers a solution.

She calls it a “beauty angle” treatment. Lie down on the bed with three or four cushions piled under your feet. This causes the blood to rush to the face, which must be covered with cold cream. Fifteen minutes of this is as good as all night with the cream on, says Miss McCaw.

Either way, though, it's a case of incurring phrases of lofty disdain from hubby unless the beauty angle business can be done when he isn't around.

“Circulation of the blood has more to do with the appearance of the complexion than most women realize,” said Miss McCaw. She suggested exercise was not just a method for keeping the body in good shape. “It's actually necessary to speed up circulation that may be sluggish.”

Of course, women have to want to be beautiful pretty badly if they're going to have any luck trying to stay away from candy and cakes and pies. It's no secret that many women “just can't do it.” Others wonder if it's worth it. All in all, it's a pretty tough proposition these beauty specialists have to sell.

Honeymoon In Valley After East Wedding

A wedding of interest to former friends in Vernon was the marriage of Mary Allie, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Anderson, of Quebec, P.Q., and the late Mr. Anderson, to Sigmond John Albrecht, of Penticton, now of Lachine, P.Q., on Saturday afternoon, September 27, in Quebec Cathedral.

The long sleeves came to points over the hands. The fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of hand-embroidered tulle, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white larkspur.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas E. Anderson. She wore a gown of white bridal satin having a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and a full skirt ending in a short train. The long sleeves came to points over the hands. The fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of hand-embroidered tulle, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white larkspur.

The bride was attended by Miss Marie Pauline Clermont, and Mrs. W. F. Anderson, sister of the bride, who wore similar gowns of pastel blue and dainty pink crepe, fashioned on princess lines, with a square neckline and cape sleeves. They wore small, off-the-face hats of matching crepe, and carried Colonial bouquets of pink and white and pink and blue gladioli and larkspur.

William F. Anderson acted as bestman, and the ushers were James Coutts and Harold Burnside. The bride's mother chose for her ensemble a street-length dress of silver-gray crepe with black accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses.

The groom's parents were unable to attend the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the St. Louis Hotel. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white asters, and centered with the wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht left for their honeymoon in British Columbia and Penticton, the bride traveling in a brown gabardine suit under a camelhair coat. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of yellow roses. Upon their return they will reside in Lachine, P.A.

Armstrong W.I. Make Final Bazaar Plans

ARMSTRONG, Sept. 24.—Considerable time was taken at the regular meeting of the Women's Institute held in the City Hall on Wednesday afternoon, September 24, at 2:45 o'clock, discussing final arrangements for the bazaar to be held on Saturday, October 25.

Conveners were appointed for the home cooking, sewing, knitting, and fancy work and white elephant stalls as well as for the tables. It was decided to ask for donations from all those interested for their stalls.

Mrs. Mills reported that $281.50 had been received on tag day, the last day of the exhibition, for the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

A gift is to be sent once a month to the adopted child at Queen Alexandra's Solarium. A parcel is to be sent at Christmas to an English Women's Institute. The amount of $34.4 was received from the sale of flowers donated by exhibitors at the fair. The local Institute received first prize for their exhibits of sewing, fancy work and cooking.

A card is to be sent to Mrs. T. N. Hayes, Sr., who is lying in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital with a broken hip. Quilting will be done at the home of Mrs. James Wilson on Wednesday afternoon, October 1.

Before closing the meeting, a small token of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Rees, who has opened her home to the W.I. on so many occasions.

For the Bride...

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. S. T. Christensen, Vernon, on Wednesday evening of last week, in honor of Isabella Le Duc, of Armstrong, who married Douglas Collic, of Vernon, on Saturday. Co-hostesses were Mrs. A. Wills and Mrs. J. Landon.

The gifts were tastefully arranged in a basket decorated with pink and white crepe paper. Some 20 friends of the bride attended.

Infantile paralysis made its first appearance in Norway and Sweden.

Quiet Dignity At Collie-LeDuc Wedding Service

A wedding of quiet dignity was solemnized in St. James Catholic Church rectory on Saturday by Rev. Father Miles, when Isabella Emily LeDuc, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard LeDuc, of Armstrong, became the bride of Douglas Orlin Collic, only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Collic, of Vernon.

The bride wore a tailored wool fawn suit and brown accessories. Her suit was ornamented with a corsage of white rosebuds.

Bridesmaid was Miss Violet LeDuc, sister of the bride, who carried out the color scheme by wearing a suit of old gold wool with brown accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli. Bestman was Joe Stark, of Vernon.

Approximately 75 guests were present at the reception in the Burns Hall, where a three-tier wedding cake was prominently displayed upon the wedding table.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Collic, mother of the groom, who was smartly attired in a black and gold afternoon dress worn with black accessories and accented by a corsage of yellow and pink gladioli. Mrs. LeDuc looked attractive in a navy blue dressmaker suit with red accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Stanley Chambers proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded and Mayor D. Howrie proposed the toast to the parents of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Collic responded briefly.

Following a honeymoon trip through southern B.C., the newlyweds will make their home in Vernon.

Life Membership Honors 25 Years Work With W.I.

Mrs. M. Grant, past president of the Vernon Women's Institute and a member of the organization for the past 25 years, was presented with an honorary life membership by Mrs. B. McLeod, president, at Monday night's meeting of the Institute in the W.I. Hall.

Mrs. Grant was congratulated on the amount of hard work she has done for the Institute during all her years of service, as Mrs. McLeod handed her the certificate of life membership portrayed in the Institute colors of gold, green and white. Mrs. Grant also was given a corsage of pink and red carnations, symbolizing the honor which has come to her. Following the general meeting and presentation ceremony, the 17 members present enjoyed tea and a social evening.

One of Mark Twain's quotations was: "All you need in this life is ignorance, and then success is sure."

OVER THE FENCE

"I see by the papers," said the old timer as he leaned on the fence, "that one of the head lads in the C.C.F., Professor Underhill of Toronto, has been lecturing the socialists about their talk of controls. I'm not much interested in his scolding of the C.C.F., but I was struck by one thing he said.

"He said what the world needs chiefly at present is enterprise and imagination, initiative and vision. And he added: 'The defenders of capitalism are quite right in maintaining that these qualities were given full scope in the capitalism of the past and that this was the reason for the great material progress of recent generations.'

"Well, it seems to me that any system that gives full scope to enterprise and imagination, initiative and vision, isn't a bad system to go on with. I can see, now and then, ways of improving it, for it certainly isn't perfect yet. But doesn't it seem a mite foolish to talk about overturning a system that, as the professor says, gives full scope to all these qualities the world needs?

"Maybe we could teach Utopia by overthrowing our present ways and putting Socialist bureaucrats or Communists in full authority. I doubt it—and I have yet to see any convincing demonstration that it works."

"Over the Fence" is presented in this newspaper each week under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Federation of Trade and Industry.

Apple Advice

the man who will make you pay for it is the tax collector who charges for standing room for the trees.

Because of heat limitations in the northern regions, Mr. Fraser did not think latitudes here favored growing of Golden Delicious, but were most favorable for McIntosh.

Cover Crops
"We should use plants to do the work of machines," said Mr. Fraser in emphasizing that cover crops were much preferred to clean tillage. He told of finding a sweet clover root on a plant 18 months old, half an inch thick at a depth of 32 inches. This was deep soil tillage.

"We should use our brains. We are going headstrong for power." As further illustration of this statement, he suggested it might be better for a grower to change his location or his variety rather than spend so much in applying spray.

Cover crops also provided organic matter in the soil "to feed the chief cooks and bottle washers who provide food for the tree." They also conserved water.

Root systems of fruit trees provide the next big field for scientific development, continued Mr. Fraser. The fruit variety relationship with the root is a topic needing study. Already it is known that roots of British apple stock are best suited to the Pacific side of Canada, while Asiatic forms do much better on the Atlantic side.

The roots stocks of Newton and Baldwin are subject to "all the ailments known to apple trees," said Mr. Fraser. There is a short supply of stocks, and there is a danger in trying unknown roots. For Macs, Mr. Fraser recommended Siberian crab root stock, but he did not know what he would recommend for Delicious.

Mr. Fraser warned against the use of hormone sprays for keeping fruit on the trees near picking time. The hormones stimulated ripening. "With some varieties, not hicks usually, sometimes you are able to keep the fruit on the trees so there is sound skin covering a chamber of horrors inside."

The hormones are a tool. Growers have not seen the final outcome of its use, so if they play with it, they are going to have to pay, declared Mr. Fraser.

Competition also is likely to come from Korea and Japan, where there was a marked increase in production. Korean valleys provide a very favorable location and production has been increasing for half a century. Ten or 15 years ago Japan got detailed information from the International Apple Association for developing her industry with methods and varieties which would meet Canadian and American production. Korea was producing 15,000,000 bushels now and Mr. Fraser expected it to double soon, along with rising output from Japan itself.

In New Zealand high transportation costs reduced production before the war from 2,000,000 bushels to 1,500,000 bushels, but during the war they went back up to the first figure—for home consumption.

Competition in Europe
European countries were also getting to a self-sufficiency or an export basis. Denmark, Belgium and Holland were having apples to sell. This past year bad weather cut production severely. Countries were using techniques to keep apples from North America over the European markets wherever possible.

"So this domestic market is the one you are going to use," concluded Mr. Fraser. He contrasted New Zealand, where they had 88 pounds per person to United States where they had just about 35 pounds per capita this year. (Last year B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. sold approximately 20 pounds per person in Canada.)

Mr. Fraser said the appetite for apples could be stimulated. He pointed out how the desire for a loin steak had been so developed that people still were anxious to buy it at prices up to 90 cents a pound.

This year's agreement allows Canada to ship three and a half million boxes to United States. "If you are going to do so, you must compete," said Mr. Fraser, pointing to increased production in the U.S.A., especially with conquest of the codling moth. Missouri jumped from 800,000 bushels to 1,600,000 and Illinois from two to four million bushels in two years.

Scene of Damage in Hurricane's Path

When the hurricane roared out of the Gulf it lifted boats, bathhouses and wooden piers as though they were pieces of paper and smashed them with shattering force along the beach in front of Biloxi, Miss. This picture is only one of the many scenes of damage which occurred in the hurricane-stricken stretch of the low-lying beaches and cities along the northern end of the Gulf of Mexico. Many people lost their lives. Volunteer squads are endeavoring to "shore up" to prevent heavy flood damage in the wake of the "Big Wind."

Start Campaign for Royal Wedding Gift of Apples

KELOWNA, Sept. 29.—The City of Kelowna may take the lead in the Interior of B.C. in organizing a voluntary subscription fund for the purchase of food to be sent to the Old Country as a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth. Although the idea originated in the province of Ontario, the movement has spread like wild-fire across the Dominion, and already Vancouver is making plans for the setting up of a committee which will invite public subscriptions.

Prominent civic officials were entirely in sympathy with the movement, and Mayor W. B. Hughes Games promised the matter will be brought to the attention of the City Council. His Worship agreed that something should be done to get Kelowna people interested in the campaign, and he is hopeful that some local service club or other organization will step forward and offer to take charge of a campaign to collect subscriptions for the purchase of food.

The marriage of Princess Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten takes place on November 20, and of some action is taken immediately, the food shipments will arrive in England in plenty of time before the royal wedding. Her Highness has already let it be known that she would prefer gifts from public bodies to be of a character that can be put to charitable use. It is thought that thousands of Old Country residents now skimping along on austerity rations will have an occasion to remember the royal wedding by the extra pleasure of a gift which represents the resources of Canada.

While it is a foregone conclusion that apples will be the main portion of the gift from the Okanagan Valley, an effort will probably be made to collect sufficient money to purchase non-perishable canned goods. J. R. J. Stirling, president of British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, is in sympathy with the movement, and the various locals of the fruit organization will be contacted within the next few days with a view of asking growers to donate several boxes of apples.

It is highly possible that two carloads of Okanagan-grown apples may be shipped to the Old Country, although details of the plan are not yet settled. It is hoped that the plan can be extended to the prairie provinces in the future. Nothing but "disastrous results" came of the plan to billet visitors in the army huts. The chairman recommended that this plan be removed next year.

Power Commission Surplus Over $100,000 First Year

In the fiscal year ended March 31, 1947, the British Columbia Power Commission produced an operating surplus of $401,637, according to the Commission's second annual report released this week. The revenue total amounted to $1,411,834.

The $401,637 surplus, however, does not take into account interest and sinking fund in respect of capital investments. These are estimated to require $290,250, leaving a net surplus of $111,387.

To Put Land Into Use

Dr. D. B. Turner, graduate in agriculture from the University of British Columbia, has been appointed assistant director of land use surveys, it was announced by the Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands and Forests.

During the present year, four land surveys were initiated and the areas selected, together with the acreage covered so far as follows: Pemberton Valley, 25,000 acres; Creston, 17,000 acres; Rock Creek-Midway area, 2,500 acres; Prince George, 90,000 acres; and Peace River, 45,000 acres, bringing the total to 179,500 acres.

In addition to the detailed surveys, during the season the work was made of surrounding areas in order to classify on a broad scale, potential settlement areas and to lay out preliminary plans for future surveys. Maps and supplementary reports covering the areas surveyed in detail will be completed and submitted to the department this winter.

This work forms only a part of the studies that are being made in an effort to bring about scientific settlement of people on the land.

Topographic Surveys

Two topographic surveyors have successfully completed their field work. It was announced by the Hon. Mr. Kenney, A. G. Blocomb completed approximately 600 square miles of control work in the vicinity of Nootka on the west coast of Vancouver Island and has now proceeded to the vicinity of Powell Lake on the mainland to carry out control survey there. R. W. Young has returned from the Bridge River country where he mapped 400 square miles.

Rutland Votes Strongly To Use Park for Airport

RUTLAND, Sept. 29.—Voting on the Rutland airport referendum aroused a great deal of interest and excitement in Rutland on Saturday, and when the poll had closed, and the votes were counted by D. McDougall, returning officer, it was found that $59 had been marked for "Yes," and 10 for "No," in answer to the question, "Are you in favor of using part of the B.C.F.A. park property for airport purposes?" There were only three spoiled ballots, so that a total of 372 persons cast their ballots. The emphatic nature of the vote caused a great deal of satisfaction to the committee, and as a result renewed efforts will be made to bring about removal of restrictions placed upon use of the property by the Kelowna Board of Trade.

The new Rutland bowling alleys were opened officially on Friday evening, and there was a large attendance of residents to try out the new sport. The alleys were declared open in a short ceremony, presided over by Arthur Gray, and several local and Kelowna people interested in bowling were called upon for short addresses. Among the speakers were T. F. McWilliams, Kelowna, and W. E. Hall, Rutland.

A well-attended convention was held by the congregation of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in the Rutland community hall on Saturday. Adherents came in considerable numbers from various parts of the valley to attend the convention.

Best Brains of Country Needed On Food Problem

KELOWNA—The best financial and agricultural brains of the country will have to get together before the world food problems can be solved, Hon. Frank Putnam, B.C. Minister of Agriculture, told directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture last week when he referred to the European food shortage and the rapidly diminishing meat supplies on the Canadian domestic market brought about by the current packinghouse strike.

Mr. Putnam declared that the back-bone of the nation is the agriculturist and that in the past the farmer has always run his business on a system of plenty.

"Today things are changing and it looks like it is changing to a system of how many dollars there are to buy produce," he declared, deploring the fact that the Old Country people are suffering because of lack of dollars.

"For the sake of a few extra dollars, people will sell their birthright today," he declared. "I don't think it is a good thing for any country. Today we are facing critical times and the only salvation is the agriculturist."

Referring to the current meat-packer's strike, Mr. Putnam said it would "be too bad if the farmers were not satisfied and went on strike for three weeks in the spring. That is why humanity depends on the agriculturist. If we have to change our system—and I think the farmer is thinking along those lines—we should give the matter careful consideration."

H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, gave a resume of the Geneva FAO conference and the developments of the IFAP. He lauded the efforts of the B.C. Federation in laying the ground-work of the Canadian Federation, and thought the B.C.F.A. was the type of organization that the Federation is striving in order to bring about an orderly system of marketing produce.

Mr. Hannam said when he attended the food conference in Geneva, he never before realized that Canada was such a land of plenty. "In the world food picture we are millionaires. It makes one think of how we should do our share—not that we haven't done so in the past—but it makes us think when other countries are having such a desperate time. We should give greater thought to sharing our abundance. If everyone had a chance to sit in at the food conference at Geneva, they would not hesitate in sharing food with hungry Europe," he concluded.

Percey French, president of the B.C. Federation, paid tribute to those who were responsible for marketing of the Canadian Federation, among whom is G. A. Hayden, present secretary. He said the farmers of B.C. do not mind paying taxes on land, school taxes, etc., but all that they are asking for is a fair and equitable tax along with other industries.

The Poet

Build your proud walls of brick and timber, rear
Your glitter-windowed streets of steel and stone;
Your hammers ring at midday, but at dark
One whom you have not known
Works silently, devising to no plan
New habitations for the soul of man.

All this the noisy labour of your hands,
So solid-seeming, shall dissolve away:
Ah, but his brain-wrought towers of moon and mist
Shall far outlive his day!
The traveller ages hence shall start and stare
To see his fabulous city traced in air.

Tourists Don't Hibernate

The wonderful autumn days of the past two weeks suggest that we should not close the tourist season in the Okanagan on Labor Day. The still frequent appearance of tourist license plates also emphasizes the fact that holiday travellers do not go into hibernation on September 1.

During the summer we boast of Kalamalka Lake. This gem sparkles as beautifully in its fall setting of green, purple and gold. The autumn hills become perhaps even more enticing in the gaudy garment disclosed as they slowly shed their summer cloak. Surely the harvest scene amid red gloved trees is more romantic than summer spraying operations.

Fish recover from the summer doldrums and show more interest in bait. Then the wild game season opens: deer, duck, pheasant. What more do the writers of tourist folders require?

There are people who will come. Not in the summer thousands, but enough to keep catering to tourists from being another strictly seasonal occupation. Prairie farmers have a habit of post-harvest holidays. We cannot offer them Florida, but we have a temperate climate, and we have it cheaper. Americans could be educated to the fact that all Canadians do not retire to igloos for the winter.

Silver Star can be made the guiding light for winter tourists, but it may be some time before this attraction is developed. It took fifteen years to complete Revelstoke Mountain Park.

In the meantime, only publicity is required to exploit our Indian Summer asset.

Community Chest

Tag days aren't what they used to be. Fund raising campaigns in Vernon generally are not being swept over the top by the strong wartime currents of generosity. It may be that charitable groups would be better served by a community chest.

The community chest is filled during one big drive in the year. The funds are apportioned to the various groups carrying on community welfare projects ordinarily supported by tag days and other canvasses.

It is no slur on the generosity of Vernon citizens to suggest that a concerted campaign is more effective than a dozen street corner appeals. Residents have a reputation of supporting worthy efforts. The community chest is merely a method of concentrating attention on the need to give.

It is impossible to do this for a tag day every month as well as for several other incidental drives. If each one were pressed with great urgency, it would increase the present tendency of the public to say, "What? Another campaign?" The community chest would be "the one big chance" for every citizen to give free rein to his generosity. (And the gift would be tax free.)

Solicitors also should welcome the concentrated drive. Too frequently, the same women are called upon to spend one Saturday afternoon a month tagging. It must be a strain on their community spirit, however friendly and generous the public response.

There will be problems in organizing a community chest. How will the funds be divided among the participating organizations? Will allotments be made to groups now raising money for projects in other parts of the Province, the Dominion, or overseas? Will the scheme require a salaried promoter? Answers have been found by successful chest associations in many centres.

Who Is Complacent?

In some very bitter phrases a columnist elsewhere on this page assails the small town complacency of Vernon. He apparently is disillusioned because the veterans' organizations will not fight for better housing, so he resigns himself to writing of the immortality of Ogopogo. Last week he was compelled to wash his hands of a campaign to get refuse boxes on the city streets. No one was interested.

The accusation of inertia is heard frequently in Vernon. It was levelled at the Board of Trade by members who did not feel that this organization took advantage of their ideas and abilities. A survey undertaken by the Board indicated this was the main reason for the absence of over one hundred members from a recent meeting. These men had reacted as had the discouraged columnist. They had given up because no one seemed interested.

There is a difference, however, in the fact that the scribe complained that no one followed his lead, while the businessman deplored the lack of leadership. The same anomaly arose within the Board of Trade. While members declared there was no project to work on, the president pointed out that he was compelled to depend on a handful of men for the many tasks of the Board. The charge of inertia or complacency can be made against both leaders and followers.

The solution is not for leaders to give it up as a bad job and talk about the immortality of the Ogopogo, but to make the call to action stronger, louder, more appealing. Nor will the ordinary citizen accomplish anything by boycott or criticism. If twenty-five members of the Board of Trade run things to the dissatisfaction of one hundred and twenty-five members then the latter should be able to do something about it, not by inaction, but by exerting their weight of numbers and the enthusiasm for action which they profess.

Love Is Better Than Hate

A few days ago, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King visited his boyhood scenes, and while in Waterloo, stated a great truth when he declared the secret of world peace lies in the ability of mankind to surmount "the barricades of hatred and barbed-wire entanglements of suspicion and distrust so conspicuous in our present-day world." It is true, as he said, that "there is something in the human heart which responds to frankness and tolerance, to friendship and goodwill." Therefore:

"A kindly approach, an attitude of friendship and goodwill cultivated by men and women in the relationships of everyday life, will make themselves felt among nations as well as among individuals. If in the management of our own internal affairs we in Canada can preserve that spirit of tolerance among men and women of different origins, occupations, races and creeds, which has become recognized as characteristic of the Canadian way of life, we will do as much for the advancement of good relations throughout the world as it would be possible for us to do in any other way."—Kelowna Courier.

It was announced Wednesday by officers of the local branch of the Okanagan prairie relief committee.—The annual Firemen's Ball is to be held this year in the National Ballroom October 20.—Saturday next will see Bulmans Ltd. cannery conclude its seasonal run on tomatoes, except for fairly small odd lots.—An all inclusive program of replacements covering the 14 year period from 1937 to 1950 is at the present time being given thorough scrutiny by trustees of the Vernon Irrigation District.—Seven naturalization applications were approved by Judge J. D. Swanson in County Court last week.—The first banquet of the Farmers' Cricket Club took place last Thursday at the Tourist Hotel, Okanagan Landing.—The Vernon and District Drag Hounds' fifth annual symkhana at the race track Thursday of last week proved to be the best yet held with 30 riders taking part.

Honsberger, of Swan Lake, plans to ship a carload of honey to the Coast in the near future. He has 250 bee hives on his property.—A city of tents has been built to house the students of Vernon Preparatory School which has been under quarantine against infantile paralysis by order of Dr. O. Thirty Years Ago—Thursday, Oct. 4, 1917.

The finance committee of the City Council reported on Monday night that as the prohibition act is coming into force, rebates amounting to $670 will have to be made of local license holders. This entails an annual reduction in civic revenue amounting to over $2,000, which must be made up in other ways.—Sir Wilfred Laurier has resigned as Liberal leader. A new leader must now be chosen.—N. W. Rowell, K.O., leader of the opposition in the Ontario legislature and a large land owner at Okanagan Centre, was in the city this week. While here a large audience was present to hear him speak on "The Church and the War."—Rod McCrimmon, a pioneer prospector, well known in this district twenty years ago, died this week at Hazelton.—No great excitement marked the exit of "John Barleycorn" on Saturday night when the prohibition act came into effect and B.O. became a dry province. Forty Years Ago—Thursday, Oct. 3, 1907.

A very successful function was held in the Kalamalka Hotel on Thursday evening, when the Okanagan Board of Trade tendered a complimentary banquet to the Hon. J. H. Turner, agent general for British Columbia. Vice-president James Vallance acted as chairman.—It is doubtful if as large and enthusiastic an audience ever was assembled under one roof within the bounds of the Yale-Cariboo electoral district as that which greeted R. L. Borden and his party at Kamloops last Thursday evening. A large number of local Conservatives attended.—Word was received on Monday that the death of J. H. Moore, an old timer in the Okanagan, is said to be due to heart failure.—The dredging apparatus for the canal between Woods Lake and Kalamalka Lake arrived this week and the work will be carried to completion.—Preliminary plans for the new $80,000 hospital building are being prepared.

Up to the very last moment the directors of the Agricultural Society were kept in a state of painful suspense regarding the outcome of their efforts to make the annual fall exhibition worthy of the city and district.—Fears were however unjustified as the show was excellent. The only class that had few entries was the poultry section.—Wild geese are making their appearance in numbers and several have been bagged by local sportsmen.—Lady and Lady Aberdeen will not visit their estate here as usual.—Stress of business compels His Excellency to remain in Ottawa. It is reported.—The tunnel at the Blue Jay mine is now 60 feet long, and as the rock is becoming softer, work will progress faster.—Both black and brown bears are very plentiful in the Lumby district, but have not caused any damage to stock this year.—On Saturday morning a respected resident of this city, Mrs. F. Stephens, passed away. The funeral was held from the Roman Catholic Church.

"Most Anything"

By STUART FLEMING

Two weeks ago in this column I tried to indicate the disgust which many veterans feel about the shocking inadequacy of rental housing in this city. So far I have encountered no reaction at all to the things that were said. A few veterans have indicated their approval, but in the organizations where some action could be begun there has been dead silence. Last week the Board of Trade bewailed the lack of interest shown in its program. One of the reasons given for this disinterest was the absence of a special project that would involve all of its members. What better project could there be than the securing of a rental housing scheme for Vernon? This is not a matter for the City Council alone. It calls for the combined action of the community's business leaders. Surely their experience and commercial acumen can find a solution for a problem that has been allowed to drift far too long. Or is Vernon so besotted with prosperity, so satiated with small town complacency that it is incapable of attacking a problem whose solution is not immediately discernible?

I know I am open to criticism for writing in these terms. It is all very well to sit behind a typewriter and play at being all-wise. Nevertheless, somebody has to say what is now merely being thought. It is better that this whole thing come out in the open where the citizens can have a look at it and evaluate it for what it is worth. I have said as much as I intend to say. If those who are in need of decent housing want any action, let them carry the ball from here. Sheep take shelter in pens because they are herded into them.

jay walking became a kind of outlet for the average citizen's expression of rugged independence. Now, however, it has become almost a rite to observe the clearly defined paths provided by a beneficent board of works. Mind you, there may be a certain tendency for pedestrians to take liberties with their new found protection from the automobile. So far I have not seen one stop dead centre in the street and hurl defiance at an oncoming motorist, but some have, by their attitude, suggested that the urge is held under not too strong restraint. It may be yet that a duel in the classic manner will be fought at the corner of Barnard and Eighth.

I am sorry to learn that some poor misguided souls in Kelowna believe that Ogopogo is dead. How any Okanagan city proud of its heritage could for a moment subscribe to such a belief is beyond my comprehension. To flaunt such a belief in the metropolitan press of Vancouver is infamous. Especially is it so of a city that prominently proclaims at its gates "You are entering the Land of the Ogopogo." Ogopogo is immortal. He does not die. He may, as is only natural, wish to retire from publicity's prying eye on occasion, but to construe this withdrawal as a proof of death would seem to indicate a very shallow estimate of his timelessness.

We of Vernon, especially those of us who are Okanagan born, know that Ogopogo cannot die. We do not for one moment claim him as our own because we know that he belongs to all of the Okanagan, but we are very jealous of his reputation. To impute to him an earthy mortality such as we enjoy is to degrade him. I sincerely hope that there are still in Kelowna those of high sensibility who will take the necessary steps to erase forever this loathsome canard, this blot upon their civic escutcheon.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

For years past I have been trying to put a bee in the ear of Hollywood:

Why not show the same good movies over and over again—instead of making us see so much new stuff that is not even second rate?

The success of "Gone With the Wind" is an illustration of what I mean. The people flock to see it and you hear them all saying about the same thing—how much better it is than the ordinary run.

I do not argue that all "repeat" pictures would have similar success—or indeed that all would be better than what we usually get.

But many great novels would make the kind of pictures that could be shown year after year and generation after generation.

We see the same live-stage plays and operas time after time. Why not the same movies?

Most of Dickens' books, much of Shakespeare, Kipling's classic "Kim", most all the old sea stories could be shown again and again.

Robinson Crusoe is supposed to be the hardest best seller in all the fiction field. The only movie versions I have seen of it were so crude that it was a shame to waste the film on them.

Take great American colonial stories like the "Last of the Mohicans." They would make marvelous movies if really well done.

Of course the secret of the success of "Gone With the Wind" is that it has just about everything.

It is a great human story. It has a really first-class cast. It also has more than shallow timelessness in the sense that it does not become tedious because the clothes the characters wear have gone out of fashion.

If they made the picture over again a hundred times, with a completely new cast each time, I doubt they could ever get as good a Rhet Butler as Clark Gable.

Vivian Leigh's acting seems to me to dwindle off, especially at the very end. But maybe that's because the story itself dwindles away. And maybe again that's because it should dwindle away to be true to what it tells.

The power of "Gone With the Wind" seems to me to come from the fact that it could be as prophetic as historic—for the future, not just the past.

In the actual movie, we see what happened when two rival social and political systems tried to settle their differences by war. We can overlook the fact that the soldiers of the north never appear in the picture except as soldier looters, or officer bores. What happened to the flower of southern aristocracy is all too vividly shown.

When I saw that scene about how the southerners talked about the then "next war" I thought how some people in our times talk so glibly about "world war three."

If ever those fools get what they want, God help us all. Most of the earth will be as much worse off than Germany is now, as defeated Germany is worse off than the defeated Confederate south was when the slaves were liberated.

My wife's pet story about San Francisco is how she went to see "Gone With the Wind" with Mr. Molotov.

They had a free show down there for the delegates and hangers-on at the San Francisco Conference.

My wife went along with some of the radio boys from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The place was crowded, except for one row, in which only one man sat, absorbed in the picture. The good lady lightly tapped the solitary sitter on the shoulder; he arose, she passed and sat down further on.

Soon the radio boys behind leaned over and whispered "do you recognize who's sitting next to you?"

She took a good look and saw it was Mr. Molotov. In the rows behind were the bodyguard (looking like bodyguards do in every language).

Mr. Molotov seemed very thoughtful as he watched the picture, my wife declares.

Well might he have been—whether he really was or not. And he might be every sane person in all the civilized world.

For there, but for the grace of God and common sense, could go we all.

An Explanation as to Why Prices Are High

With all the talk going on about prices being high, it is quite possible to forget that prices cannot be higher than people will pay for goods. A price label on something on a shelf is not the price of the article by any means. It is what the dealer hopes to get for it. It only becomes a price in the real sense when somebody pays it.

All this talk about ineffectual purchasing power is beside the question, as long as goods are being sold at the rising prices, and people are paying for them.

That brings us to the question of asking why it is possible for goods to be sold at rising prices, even if we dislike these prices. It is because the people have the money with which to buy the goods.

During the war and since there have been dozens of rather stupid remarks to the effect that, since the government could borrow and spend billions of dollars for war purposes, it should be able to do this for any purpose at any time. Quite true. The difficulty is that raising and spending money by a government, to the extent to which this money is not taken from the people in taxation, causes prices to rise. Present high prices are the consequence of the fact that, during the war, the government borrowed money, printed money, and increased the supply of money. That money is now in existence, and it is that money which makes it necessary for prices to be as high as they are today.

Had the government financed the war entirely out of taxation, there would not be all the money which is now in circulation. That is a very simple fact.

We are now paying for the war, for that part of it which we financed by loan and other devices and not by taxation during the war. That is why prices are high. That is the complete answer to the argument that the government showed that it was able to raise and spend billions during the war and should be able to do the same thing in time of peace.—Aylmer Express.

A Few Blisters Wouldn't Hurt Us

Editor, The Vernon News; Sir:

I notice your editorial re Silver Star road. I think it would be a good idea if instead of trying to get everything from the government, the different organizations would get together and form work parties and do something. It wouldn't hurt our young people, and some of us not so young, to get a few blisters on our hands. We have Jaycees, Loins Club, Teen Towners, K.F.P., Rotary, and Elks, who are all doing good work in a way, but much more could be accomplished by a concerted effort with pick, shovel, axe and mattock. There is talk of a road to Silver Star attracting tourists, but the road alone will not hold them. There are at least three places not far from Silver Star where water could be stored in large quantities, and it wouldn't take much to make a road along the old trail on the south side of the mountain to these places. The water could be used in the district, and one thing tourists look for is water, which is why they like the lakes. I do not see why our people couldn't forget the beer parlor and the dance for a while and do something useful. There is talk of the city building a new hospital. Why couldn't a lot of the work be done by voluntary labor. Are we too lazy? Too dumb? Or what is the matter with us? Maybe we need a Moses to lead us out of Egypt.

L. C. CARSEN.

Vernon, B.C.

Get This One—Quick

In St. Louis the other day a plant foreman was honored by his fellow employees at a ceremony for 60 years of service without a vacation.

We assume that the long service and not the utter absence of annual holidays was headlined at the blowout. But if the testimonials included any reservations as to this egregious antipathy to leisure—if anyone said, "Boss, we honor you for your years of efficient work in spite of the horrible precedent you have been building up"—it does not appear in the record.

We are reluctantly forced to assume that here are good, honest American citizens who somehow view 3,120 consecutive weeks of labor unmitigated by a single fishing trip, scenic tour, or fortnight loaf in a shady backyard, as an accomplishment worthy of emulation.

This is dangerous business. Herein lies the germ of a subversive doctrine that could spread and leave in its wake a country we would not care to live in. Does the House Committee on un-American Activities know about it? They should.—Christian Science Monitor.

Immunization Week

Some public health workers are inclined to believe that the public dramatization of poliomyelitis outbreaks has tended to take attention from facts surrounding certain other diseases—just as deadly as polio, but which, unlike polio, can be prevented.

For instance diphtheria and whooping cough, year in and year out, each take many more lives than polio—and each is preventable. True, polio is a dangerous, crippling and killing disease, but diphtheria and whooping cough are dangerous killers too. It is tragic that medical science has been unsuccessful in attempts to develop a polio preventive, but it is also tragic that the Canadian public does not co-operate 100 per cent in using the available means to wipe out and curb diseases which are just as deadly but which are preventable.

The tragedy of the public's ignorance or apathy in regard to the available preventives for diphtheria and whooping cough is written in the statistics for 1946 which show close to 500 deaths in Canada from these two diseases alone.

It is to be hoped that the untiring efforts of medical science to develop a preventive for polio will be successful, and that the Canadian people will take full advantage of the preventive, once it is discovered. However, polio will continue to take a toll if the presence of a polio preventive is ignored in some instances as are today's preventives for diphtheria and whooping cough.

Vaccination has just about wiped out smallpox—could do just the same thing with diphtheria, and whooping cough vaccine is an extremely effective whooping cough preventive.

It is to be sincerely hoped that we soon will have the benefit of a polio preventive, but in the meantime we should make use of the disease preventives now in our possession. That is why the Health League of Canada, the Dominion's leading voluntary health education association, has designated the week of October 5 as "National Immunization Week."

This annual national observance is designed to draw attention to the fact that certain communicable diseases—particularly diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox—are preventable. It also is a means of making known the fact that federal, provincial and municipal health departments throughout the country are working continuously to eliminate these preventable diseases.

Toot, Toot!

Something deplorable is creeping into our Okanagan newspaper files.

The other day a despatch emanated from Kelowna. It had to do with some argument that had developed between B.C.'s Inspector of Municipalities and the Kelowna council, in which the Victoria official had warned that his department will no longer allow municipalities to grant their property at $1 a lot and a minimum of taxes for wartime houses.

"In other words, the war is over and lo— with the veterans," said Alderman Jack Horn. At least that is the way the Courier reported it.

"Tell him to go to—," remarked another alderman. And again we are using the Courier's typography.

This was bad enough. We have always been worried about the Courier's elliptical reporting. But our concern mounted when we noted that the Vernon News and Summerland Review also left their readers in the dark. The News headline, in fact, blazoned forth that the Victoria authority had been told to "Go to—."

Perhaps these copying newspapers weren't quite sure what to fill in, and may therefore be less to blame than the originating Courier.

But the Herald, always determined to give its loyal readers their full value, and in pursuance of the noblest aims of honest journalism, frowned on giving only parts of a story, if it is to be given at all. We have traced these reported comments to the sources, and have it on authority of one of Kelowna council's most reliable spokesmen that the Victoria gentleman was told to "go to grass." The hell of it is that our readers never appreciate the time and expense we put ourselves to, to get them the full facts.—Pentstemon Herald.

Penticton Air Cadets Receive Link Trainer

PENTICTON — The Penticton squadron R.C.A.F. Cadets is now in possession of a Link trainer. This piece of equipment, so important in training pilots during the war, will be a vital part of the training for the local boys.

Quarters for this costly equipment must be found, and in order to assist with this, the Cadets are holding a tag day on Saturday. Negotiations are now underway to obtain accommodation for the trainer.

Announcement of this was made to the boys at a meeting held on Tuesday night. At this session a full discussion of the tag day plans was held, and various tasks assigned the boys.

Monocles for Britain Shipped from Chicago

Monocles for Britain are now being shipped from, of all places, Chicago. Considered a luxury item, they haven't been making them in Britain for seven years. Now, austerity relief is in sight for monocle wearers. Question: What have they been using in the meantime?

Municipalities Consider Ways Of Getting Money

Delegates to the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities sought to get more money for their cities, but nothing extra for themselves, judging by action on resolutions reviewed at Monday night's Council meeting by Alderman E. B. Cousins. The sales tax to provide revenue for social services and education was favored, whereas a resolution providing for special indemnities to aldermen who devoted large amounts of time to civic duties was "vociferously defeated," said Alderman Cousins.

SCREEN FLASHES

The reel and real life, loves and thrills of Pearl White, who dared a thousand deaths to make the movies famous and herself the first queen of the screen, have been thrillingly re-enacted in one of the biggest productions of the season, "The Perils of Pauline." Filmed in the dazzling technicolor befitting such a colorful character, the film stars Betty Hutton and John Lund, and opens tonight, Thursday, at the Capitol Theatre.

Highlighting both the on and off-screen adventures of the on-screen queen, the film is a love story, a musical and a riotously funny lowdown on the early days of motion picture making.

Appearing Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol Theatre is "The Wife of Monte Cristo," starring John Loder and Lenore Aubert.

"The Egg and I," the movie version of Betty MacDonald's best seller which has been read by more than 25 million persons, comes Wednesday for four showings at the Capitol Theatre with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray in the starring roles of Betty and Bob. One of the most hilarious pieces of Americana ever concocted, the picture recounts the adventures of a honeymooning couple who try to wrest a living from a mountain-wilderness chicken ranch.

Miss Solbert, as the farmer's wife who literally works her fingers to the bone attempting to "hew a living out of solid rock," was never more happily cast. The same may be said of Fred MacMurray as the obdurate husband who is blindly unaware that his wife is working herself to death.

The Kettle Family, one of the highlights of the book, is headed in the picture by Marjorie Main, a salty matriarch, and Percy Kilbride, a garrulous sponger.

The high-spirited antics of a champion bird dog, when he's subjected to restraint in a new home in New England, complicates the life of his 10-year-old mistress in the sparkling comedy drama "Banjo," starring little Sharyn Moffett, at the Empress Theatre, Thursday to Saturday. Acustomed to ranging the fields in their old Georgia home, both child and dog manage to disturb the calm serenity of the little girl's aunt, and there are many heartaches before they finally win their way into the aunt's affections.

Second feature on the double bill is "Bells of San Angelo." Continuing the ever-popular Roy Rogers series, the film also stars Andy Devine, Dale Evans and the Sons of the Pioneers.

The audience knows who the killer is, but neither the cops nor the hero know in "Lady Chatter," exciting new film playing at the Empress Theatre beginning Monday.

This technique builds the same amount of suspense as other methods of mystery story telling and at the same time permits the audience to relax and watch the authorities find out what they already know from the start.

Ann Savage and Robert Lowery have the leading roles in the picture.

Also on the same bill is the thriller, "Second Chance," starring Kent Taylor.

$10. Fine to Motorcyclist Who Exceeds Speed Limit

Ten dollars and costs and a blue license was the sentence to Walter Grahame in City Police Court on Monday morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding the speed limit. The case was heard by Magistrate William Morley.

The speeding occurred on Lake Drive on Saturday, about 9:45 p.m. The accused was clocked at 40 miles per hour by the police. Mr. Grahame had no speedometer on his motorcycle and did not think that he was going at that speed.

California's 1946 asparagus crop was estimated at 617,072,000.

Kelowna Not to Be Guided by Rutland Vote

KELOWNA—At a special meeting of the executive council of the Kelowna Board of Trade held last week to deal with a letter dated September 23, from Bertram Chichester, secretary of Rutland local B.C.F.G.A., requesting the board to appoint two of their members as scrutineers at a referendum being held September 27, the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas in the view of the executive of the Board of Trade the proposed referendum is not in accordance with the terms of the recent resolution dealing with it, in that sufficient time has not been given the people of Rutland to consider this important matter, we are resolved that we cannot be influenced by any referendum taken at this time, and therefore, no removal of original restrictions will be considered until such time as the district is regularly organized as a municipality and the referendum submitted to the people under the regulations contained in the Municipal Act."

Cannot Comply

The secretary was instructed to advise Mr. Chichester that in view of today's resolution, the Board of Trade could not comply with his request for scrutineers.

The resolution was dated September 9, and is reproduced below: "Whereas the gift of property made in good faith by the Kelowna Board of Trade to the Rutland Local B.C.F.G.A. expressly stipulated that the land was to be used for public purposes and not for commercial purposes, and 'Whereas in the opinion of the executive council of the Kelowna Board of Trade, the placing of hangars on this property under present conditions must be construed as commercial use of the property, and

"Whereas the executive council of the Kelowna Board of Trade feels strongly that this property should be retained for the public enjoyment of the people of Rutland, and therefore is reluctant to release it for commercial purposes until such time as the people of Rutland have a chance to express their opinion through a referendum. "Be it resolved that the executive of the Kelowna Board of Trade after exhaustive study of the matter, regrettably refuse to agree to the removal of the restrictive clauses of the agreement at this time."

Airlines Aggravate Nursing Shortage, Says Hospital Group

SALMON ARM—Acute shortage of nurses is aggravated through so many nursing graduates being employed by T-O-A and other airlines as stewardesses.

This complaint was made by delegates attending a meeting of the Okanagan and District Regional Council of the B.C. Hospitals Association held here Friday of last week.

The airlines contribute nothing towards the cost of training nurses, delegates stated. A resolution was unanimously passed requesting T-O-A and other airlines to employ other than registered nurses as stewardesses in order to assist in relieving the serious situation that now confronts the hospitals. With all hospitals facing increased deficits due to constantly rising costs, a resolution passed at the spring session of the council, seeking increased grants from the provincial government was again endorsed.

In 1622 CALVERT said:
"I came to build"

THREE HUNDRED YEARS ago Calvert, Man of Vision and founder of colonies in the New World, said: "My resolution is to build... and prepare for the future."

In 1622 Calvert advised his early settlers to "Be partners. It is a good country... join in the good of it." Well may Calvert have foreseen Canada's great promise when he wrote: "Preserve unity... the land will yield us many things."

Famous 17th century English Statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, Calvert's ideals of unity have been shared by all men of vision since Calvert's time three centuries ago. Today... every Canadian can be a man of vision, and "the land will yield us many things."

The full measure of our stature as a nation depends upon unity of purpose. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.

Truck Drivers Get Raise In Wage Deal

Thirteen hundred and fifty motor transport workers will take home $20 to $23 more pay each month as a result of a settlement reached between employers and employees.

Local Truck Drivers and Helpers Union No. 31 accepted the employers' offer of 10 cents to 13 cents per hour. The offer was the result of conciliation discussions with R. G. Clements acting as conciliator.

Semi-trailer drivers will now receive $1.05 per hour; truck drivers $1 per hour; helpers will get 95 cents per hour.

Workers who move household goods will be paid at the rate of $1.05 per hour for drivers and 97 1/2 cents per hour for helpers. Spokesmen for the automotive transport industry indicate that it is necessary to consider freight rate increases to cover additional wage costs along with other operating costs which have risen sharply.
